Fierce Debate in the House on the Kuklux Reports.

Congress Deliberately Insulted by the Minority.

Sumner's Resolution on the Sale of Arms to France.

Telling Speech of Senator Conkling on Its Animus.

Passage of the Bill Removing the Tea and Coffee Duty.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The report of the Kuklux Committee was presented in the Senate today, and was accompanied by the evidence taken before the full Committee here in Washington, and by the Subcommittee sent to North Carolina. The evidence taken before the other Subcommittees is not yet ready to be presented. A half-hour's debate arose upon the presentation of the minority report, Mr. SCOTT taking occasion to refer to some statements which seemed designed to put the action of the majority of the Committee in a false light. Messrs. BAYARD and BLAIR both disclaimed any intention to imply in the report that the majority had not acted with fairness, and explained that the seeming imputation referred to applied to facts rather than to persons. The minority report was then received, and the bill reported from the majority of the Committee, to extend the extraordinary powers conferred by the present law upon the President to the end of the next session of Congress, was read twice and placed upon the calendar.

THE REPORT IN THE HOUSE.

There was a remarkable scene in the House this afternoon, on the presentation of the Kuklux report in that body. After the passage of the Free Tea and Coffee bill, Judge POLAND was recognized, and proceeded to make the report of the Joint Committee on the insurrectionary States. Mr. BECK was about to follow, on the part of the minority, when Mr. SCOFIELD, of Pennsylvania, a member of the Committee, called the attention of the House to the extraordinary language of the minority, when they first say they have not seen the report of the majority, and then proceeded to characterize it thus: "The conduct and report of the majority of this Committee, as inaugurated, continued and reported, is the grossest outrage, the foulest calumny, ever perpetrated or circulated upon or against a helpless people by their rulers." This created amazement in the House, when Mr. BECK speedily came to the rescue by asserting that that was not in the report. Mr. SCOFIELD held up the printed copy, and read from it. Mr. BECK, with apparent nervousness, then said that the objectionable words had been stricken out by the minority at a meeting this morning. This created still further excitement, and about half the members of the House were on their feet, crowding into the area in front of the Speaker. Mr. BECK then stated that the sentence had been so amended as to read "that the Kuklux bill and the proceedings thereunder are the grossest outrage, the foulest calumny, &c." Mr. BINGHAM instantly made the point that this was an unparliamentary reflection upon the majority of the House which had passed the law, and he objected to the reception of the minority report, which objection Speaker BLAINE promptly sustained. This threw the Democrats into extreme consternation, for they saw that their precious document, which has been loaded for the Presidential campaign, was thus doomed to utter obscurity. Mr. COX, Mr. MORGAN and other Democrats set up a demand for their rights, when the Speaker reminded them that no such thing as the right to present a minority report existed under the rules; that such presentation was a matter purely ex gratia, and if objection was made, the minority could not submit their report. A stormy scene ensued, in which the Speaker had occasion for sharp use of the gavel, and for merited rebuke of aspersions on the correctness of his rulings. Finally, as the wind-up of the row, Sunset COX moved to suspend the rules, so as to receive the report just as it stood, which failed—yeas 136, nays 66—not two-thirds. Gen. BANKS then threw oil on the troubled waters by proposing a resolution that the minority report should be received when couched in such language as does not reflect upon the Committee or the majority of the House, which passed without a division.

WAYS AND MEANS.

In the Ways and Means Committee this morning Mr. ROBERTS, of New-York, offered a resolution repealing the Income tax, which was lost—yeas 4, nays 5, as follows: Yeas—Messrs. DAWES, KELLY, ROBERTS, BROOKS. Nays—Messrs. MAYNARD, FINKELBURG, BURCHARD, KERR, BECK. This substantially dissipates all prospect of a repeal of the tax. It will have to be paid this year and then disappear by expiration of the law. By analysing the vote of the Committee it will be seen that the sections of the country, which pay comparatively none of the tax, impose it upon those sections which pay nearly the whole. Hon. AMASA WALKER appeared before the Committee, and made an argument in favor of the reimposition of the tax. The question is so close that those who oppose the repeal, but favor the cessation of the tax with the expiration of the law, hold the balance of power, and will prevent such a calamity as the re-enactment of the tax.

SUMNER'S RESOLUTION.

The discussion of Mr. SUMNER'S resolution was continued in the Senate today by Mr. CONKLING, who spoke from 1:20 to 4 o'clock. The galleries were fuller than at any previous time during the debate, and as an evidence of the effectiveness of the speech it may be added that there had been few departures among the auditors when Mr. CONKLING took his seat, on no other day during the discussion has the interest been sustained so as to keep the galleries full till so late an hour. In the opening of the speech the foreing upon the Senate of long political debates to the exclusion of the consideration of the ordinary business of legislation, was charged forcibly upon those who are responsible. In the present case the Senator from Massachusetts would not be content with investigation but must have debate. He would not have business, but talk. If he had simply wanted an investigation, he would have secured it by presenting the resolution and asking its passage, when there would not have been a word of debate or opposition. The presentation of charges before investigation had been made to impress the country, and they could not, of course, go without answer. One side having been forced upon the country in advance the other side must also be heard. The impression the resolution had been designed to produce was evident from extracts from the World and Sun, which he read, to the effect that our Government had treated Germany worse than England had treated us in the late war. An editorial from a recent copy of the Tribune he caused to be read, and called upon the Senate, and especially Mr. SUMNER, to bear witness to its calumnies, which he could well do, since its falsehood was transparent and glaring. He convicted Mr. SUMNER of something almost worse than disingenuousness in pretending that no one but himself knew of his intention to offer the resolution. The substance of the resolution had been published in Boston, Cincinnati and Chicago the same morning it was offered, with the statement that it would be brought forward. The unpatriotic action of SUMNER and SCHURZ in furnishing information to Germany against our Government, in order to serve personal and political ends was set forth in strong colors, and the reading of the law under which their communication with CHAMBRUN is possibly punishable as a high crime and misdemeanor created a sensation in the galleries. The amendment which Mr. CONKLING offered the other day will bring out the truth in regard to this part of the affair, and it is admitted to have a serious aspect. Mr. SCHURZ took this part of the speech with an air of bravado, but Mr. SUMNER looked very grave. To CHAMBRUN, whose representations have led SUMNER and SCHURZ into this unfortunate venture, he applied the following language with telling effect: "It was, I think, DUGALD DALGETTY who boasted of his loyalty. He said that he was true to every Government so long as it was his interest to be so. I hope that this standard of loyalty will not be too high for any titled or untitled Frenchman, for any man who having served as the spy of LOUIS NAPOLEON, is ready in turn to be the spy of the French Republic, or of the sons of LOUIS PHILIPPE. I hope it will not be too high for those who are seeking to bespatter our Government with the mud in which they are dredging for claims against American merchants an American citizens." Mr. SCHURZ interrupted two or three times with indifferent success, and finally concluded he would be safer in delaying the answer to his sharp arraignment till he could make some preparation and have the floor to himself. There are some mysterious whispers tonight about new and startling evidence. It is marked that Mr. TRUMBULL is very little in his seat during these debates, and it is currently reported that he will not enter the debate at all. There are no signs that Mr. SUMNER will return to the charge, though it would be strange if he did not undertake some defense of himself. Meantime the calumnies of certain papers are redoubled, and the country is assured against the truth that the attack has not failed. But the attack has failed, and failed most miserably. Not even can the assailants muster up courage to rehearse new points to their newspaper runners—so the latter fall to reiterating the lies they have already told. Let us have investigation, says the great body of the Senate; let us have, first, political bombs, to prevent the renomination of GRANT, say SUMNER, SCHURZ and TIPTON.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

Mr. FRYE, in behalf of Mr. HOOPER, offered the Civil Rights bill in the House to-day, demanding the previous question on its passage An attempt was made to rule out the bill on the ground that no previous notice had been given. This failing, Mr. ELDRIDGE, in order to drive it over until next Monday, moved that the bill be rejected. The calling of the yeas and nays consumed the remainder of the morning hour, and answered the purpose, although Mr. ELDRIDGE'S motion was lost by 89 to 116. Mr. BELL, of New-Hampshire, was the only Democrat who stood by the bill. The vote was a clear indication that the bill will pass next Monday. It does not essentially differ from Mr. SUMNER'S bill, except that the Chinese are excluded from the provision. It guarantees by substituting citizens for persons.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The House Select Committee on the Civil Service, today, authorized Mr. WILLARD to report his bill prohibiting members of Congress from recommending persons to office except when asked in writing, but they did this without any recommendation. A majority of the Committee probably favor the principle of the bill, but their action is intended to leave the form of proposed legislation for the future determination of the House. The House will be asked to fix a day for the early consideration of the bill.

PUBLIC LANDS.

The House Committee on Public Lands today agreed to favorably report the Senate bill setting side the Yellowstone region as a public reservation. There is no doubt of the passage of this very proper measure by the House.

THE CUSTOM-HOUSE COMMITTEE.

The Senate Investigating Committee did not have a meeting today, owing to the absence of a quorum. Senator BUCKINGHAM sent word that he was sick with gastric fever, and his return was uncertain. Senator HOWE has been sick ever since his return, and was not well enough to appear today. The Committee therefore stands adjourned until Senators HOWE or BUCKINGHAM shall be well enough to resume their sessions, which will probably be this week.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

In the contest for delegates to the South Carolina State Convention to choose delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, it is learned here to-night that C. C. BOWEN, who aspires to guide the political destinies of Charleston County, was left entirely out in the cold. It is said that now at least he is politically dead.

MR. HALE.

Mr. CHARLES HALE was confirmed today in the Executive Session of the Senate without contest. The opposition to Mr. HALE has been of the most extraordinary character, and has met with the defeat that it could not have avoided. The triumph of Mr. HALE, after thorough investigation, is such a vindication of his character that he may thank the Levantine Greek for having set Mr. SCHURZ to oppose his confirmation.

SETH JOHNSON.

SETH JOHNSON, who was discharged the other day on the ground of having testified before a Congressional committee touching the crime for which he was indicted, was today brought before the Court again, and an amendment to the law having been discovered which was applicable to the case, he was put upon trial. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to one year in the District Jail and a fine of $40,000. The recent defaulters in Treasurer SPINNER'S office are, therefore, now serving out their terms of punishment, the law having been speedily and severely applied.

FREE TEA AND COFFEE.

The House today, in pursuance of the intention foreshadowed in these dispatches yesterday, put through the free tea and coffee bill under whip and spur, by suspending the rules, discharging the Committee of the Whole from its further consideration, and passing the same by a two-thirds vote, all in one motion, which sweeping and deleterious piece of legislation can be done only on Monday of all the days of the week. This, it must be borne in mind, is the second time in this Congress that the House has passed a precisely similar bill. In March last just such a bill was sent to the Senate, where it was referred to the Finance Committee, and they duly reported that it was impolitic to remove entirely the duties on tea and coffee. Such will be the fate of this bill. This action of the House releases the Ways and Means Committee from any embarrassment on the tariff, and leaves them free to go ahead and frame a bill of general reductions, which they will do. On this vote, out of thirty-eight in the negative, there were found but fourteen Democrats who had the courage to cast a vote, which might need explanation on the stump. Previous to this, a similar resolution from Mr. HALE to put salt and coal on the free list, failed by 102 to 88, not two-thirds.

THE REDEMPTION BILL.

The bill which has passed the Senate authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to withdraw and redeem $3,000,000 per month of the three-per-cent. certificates, and which is now before the House Committee of Banking and Currency, will probably fail in that Committee, and thus fail to pass the House. There has been much nervousness in banking circles as to the effect of this measure, but it is now practically entombed.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

A DIFFICULTY.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in a letter to the Paymaster-General of the Navy, making certain inquiries relative to the contemplated sale of condemned tobacco stored at the Brooklyn Navy-yard, says the law now in force requires all tobacco to have attached to the pagages stamps indicating the tax paid thereon. The absense of such stamps is cause for seizure and forfeiture. These stamps are prepared by this office, and furnished only to Collectors of Internal Revenue. They are charged to said Collectors as so much money, and the Collector can get credit for them only by depositing with the United States Treasurer their money value, or by returning the stamps. Tobacco in the hands of the Government or any of its agents must be stamped before it is sold, if it has not already been stamped, the same as tobacco in the hands of individuals. If, therefore, the tobacco is so damaged that it will not sell for a sum equal to the value of the stamps required to give it currency in the market, it cannot legally be sold, and had better be destroyed. If a purchaser can be found who will purchase it subject to the tax and affix stamps before it is removed, it may be sold; or if the Government can sell it for a price exceeding the tax —32 cents per pound—and from the proceeds purchase and affix stamps, then it may be sold. But if neither of these conditions can be fulfilled, then the tobacco cannot be legally sold, and the Government cannot well afford to violate the law in respect to requirements for the violation of which by private individuals it is every day bringing suits and imposing fines and penalties.

THE KUKLUX.

WADE HAMPTON, M. C. BUTLER and Mr. KERSHAW, of South Carolina, have reached Washington to ask for a hearing before the Kuklux Committee to defend themselves against the charge made in the Senate that they were in active sympathy with the Kuklux in that State.

INTERNAL REVENUE APPOINTMENTS.

The following internal revenue appointments were made today:

Assistant Assessors.—John H. Rosier, Third District of West Virginia; J. H. Warren, Sixth District of Iowa.

Storekeepers.—A. A. Anthony, Second Iowa District; Thomas C. King, Sixth Kentucky District.

Surveyors of Distilleries.—Frederick W. Stecker, Seventh Indiana District; W. C. Starke, First Iowa District; Louis J. Andersan, Third Ohio District; J. H. Calkins and G. S. Walker, Third Pennsylvania District.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate, in Executive Session, today confirmed the following nominations: Chas. Hale, of Massachusetts, to be Assistant Secretary of State; E. L. Deane, of Maine, to be Captain in the revenue marine service; John M. Cross, Register of Land Office, Huntsville, Ala.; George M. Radcliffe, Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Sixth District of Illinois; Albert M. Barney, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Texas; Wm. F. Gilmore, Receiver of Public Moneys, at Chillicothe, Ohio. Also, the following Postmasters: J. S. Lozier, at Hackensack, N. J.; E. B. Dawson, at Boonton, N. J.; Wm. L. Bigby, at Newman, Ga. The President today nominated to the Senate DAVID C. COX to be Pension Agent at Washington, D. C.

THE JOINT LIBRARY COMMITTEE.

The Joint Committee on the Library met this morning and had under consideration among themselves the questions concerning the proposed International Copyright law, but reached no conclusion.

THE PHILADELPHIA COLLECTORSHIP.

A deleration, consisting of about a dozen prominent business men of Philadelphia, all of whom were volunteers in the army during the late war, called at the White House and interviewed the President today in the interest of DAVID HOUSTON, the present Deputy Collector of Customs, for succession to the Collectorship in that city. The delegation also called on Secretaries of War, the Treasury and the Navy; also on Commissioner DOUGLASS, Vice-President COLFAX and the Pennsylvania delegation in Congress, relative to the same matter. Gen. WARNER, of Philadelphia, was their spokesman.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

Common Sense Dawns on a Richmond Car Company.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 19.—A committee of colored citizens waited on the stockholders' meeting of our City Railway Company here, today, and requested that the Company cease to make distinctions in the street-cars on account of color, and remove the white balls from the cars that have by that sign been set apart heretofore for whites. The Company voluntarily acceded to all that was asked, and henceforth the street-cars of Richmond will be dedicated to equal rights. It is proper to say that the Company has been made rather placable of late by certain judgments obtained against it by ejected colored passengers.

THE SCRANTON DEFALCATION.

O'Connor, the Embezzler, in Jail at Wilkesbarre.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

SCRANTON, Penn., Feb. 19.—Anticipating the arrival of JOHN O'CONNOR in this city this afternoon, hundreds of his old acquaintances congregated in the vicinity of the depot. He arrived in New-York this morning at 6 o'clock from Savannah, and was immediately transferred to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western mail-train at Hoboken. The officers of the road to avoid the crowd removed him from the train at the upper end of town, and rapidly drove him to Alderman FULLER'S office, where he pleaded guilty to embezzling the Company's funds. Bail not being forthcoming, he was secretly placed on a train and locked up in Wilkesbarre Jail to await trial.

CANADIAN INDEPENDENCE.

The Halifax Chronicle Reiterates Its Story of the Secret Treaty.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 19.—The Chronicle, in reply to an editorial in the Toronto Globe ridiculing the story of the secret treaty, reasserts its authenticity, and says it is credibly informed that it was signed after the conclusion of the Washington negotiations, by Lord DE GREY for the British Government and Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD, as Premier of Canada, on the part of the Governor-General. The chief points had been agreed upon between the two Governments some years previously, and, so far as Great Britain was concerned, it had then been definitely settled as the basis of her future colonial policy. When Lord BURY long since published his draft of the treaty, it was not deemed advisable to reduce the understanding to the shape of a formal compact, until the apparently satisfactory conclusion of the Alabama difficulty by the Washington Treaty had, as was thought, finally relieved England from danger, and further entanglements on this continent. The Chronicle says that only Lord LISGAR, Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD and Sir GEORGE E. CARTIER are cognizant of the treaty, and mentions some circumstances which indicate the fact of its existence.

THE SNOW IN THE WEST.

Great Suffering of Travelers—Many Lives Lost—Drifts a Hundred Feet High.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Feb. 19.—A distressing incident of the terrible storms that have swept over this region during the present Winter is connected with the discovery of the remains of Dr. HALL, of Osceola County, Iowa. He was lost in the terrible storm of three weeks ago, and though every possible effort was made to find the body, it was only discovered four days ago, when a dog belonging to the family brought in a portion of one of the missing man's legs. The animal was followed, and the mutilated remains of the unfortunate man were found only half a mile distant from the house. Later reports from Dakota confirm the statement in regard to the depth of the snow and severity of the weather during December and January. JOHN W. SMITH'S wagon-train, which left the Whetsone Agency for SPOTTED TAIL'S new reservation on White Earth River, only 200 miles distant, was six weeks making the trip. The train encountered snow-drifts, many of which were 100 feet deep, and extending a great distance, through which it was necessary to force a passage by shoveling. The weather was so intensely cold that every watch stopped, and every man of the train was more or less frozen, some of them quite seriously. The party suffered greatly, but no lives were lost.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 19.—A dispatch from Assistant-Superintendent CLARK, at Fort Laramie, says the cars for the Japanese will be here to-morrow, and that the road is open. On the other hand, the telegraph reports the road blocked up at several points badly. Authentic news is very meagre. The most interesting of all subjects are descriptions by the passengers of their experience in the snow blockade. All agree that there was much want and distress, but the statements differ as to neglect or incompetency of the railroad officers.

The Snow-Bound Travelers by the Pacific Road Reach California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 19.—The first-class passengers and mails on eight trains that were recently blockaded on the Union Pacific Railroad arrived here this morning, having been rushed at the utmost speed over the Central Pacific. Many of the passengers are very bitter against the Union Pacific. On the overland trains with the blockaded passengers arrive at Niles Station, Alameda County, this morning, they were met by a train from Oakland with the delicacies of the season, and magnificent bouquets of fresh flowers of every variety grown in the open air were presented to each passenger. California now presents an appearance as advanced as the Western States in June, and the contrast with their late experience in the snow delights one by a comfort beyond measure.

The Lynchburg Virginian continues to appeal to the Legislature to permit the people of Virginia to vote upon the question of holding a Convention, that they may have an opportunity to say whether they will have a Constitution "under which they can live without the shadow of a pretext for repudiating their existing indebtedness."

Reading the Democratic journals of Virginia cannot be, at present, a very pleasant occupation to the Democratic members of the Legislature of that State. One of these papers says: "Their proceedings are not only puerile and ridiculous, but they not unfrequently undo today what they did yesterday, thus wasting two days in accomplishing worse than nothing, while the tax-payers of the Commonwealth foot the bills."

The Mobile Register expresses the opinion that, after all, the soundest Democracy is to be found in the New-England States—notably in New-Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut. The reason, it thinks, is that they have been tried as by fire in the crucible of adversity, and have come out of defeats, year after year, like pure and refined gold. They will be still further refined this year, if the crucible of adversity will do it.

The Chicago Evening Journal calls upon Mr. TRUMBULL to define his position and show whether he has or has not, at some time or another, said or done something, privately or publicly, to commend himself to the bitter opponents of the party with which he has been identified, and which has heretofore honored him. The Springfield (Ill.) Journal, on the other hand, indorses his position in the Republican Party, as well as that of LOGAN and PALMER, and says that they are for the nominee of the Republican National Convention; and that the manner in which they are referred to by Democratic newspapers is not only distasteful but exceedingly offensive to them.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

Opening of the Campaign—Senator Wilson at Manchester.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 19.—The political campaign in New-Hampshire is fairly opened on both sides. The Republicans had a grand rally at Smyth's Hall, this evening, to hear Hon. HENRY WILSON, of Massachusetts. Hon. R. B. CARPENTER, of South Carolina, today addressed the people of Goffstown and vicinity, eight miles from Manchester, from the standpoint of a Conservative Republican. An extra train left this evening, taking several hundreds of citizens, returning about 11 P. M. Considerable interest was manifested to hear Judge CARPENTER'S exposition of reconstruction in the South, and political feeling ran high, as both men are extremely popular. The people of New-Hampshire are engaged in one of the most exciting political campaigns ever known in the State.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Republican State Convention—Two Tickets for Delegates.

COLUMBUS, S. C., Feb. 19.—The Republican State Convention met today and was called to order by Lieut.-Gov. RANSIER. A long and acrimonious debate took place upon the election of a temporary Chairman, ending in the election of F. G. MOSES, Speaker of the House of Representatives, who in a speech said that the party at home were united, but the men in the National Council were unfaithful to their trusts. He said the delegates must tell President GRANT that he had listened too long to a certain Senator from this State. Two tickets for delegates are in the field. A printed letter from Attorney-General CHAMBERLAIN, urging the renomination of President GRANT, circulated in the Convention.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20—1 A. M.—The uniform barometric pressure which existed Sunday night has continued very generally east of the Mississippi River, but the barometer has fallen from Texas to the upper lakes. Clear or clearing weather, with light north and northeast winds, has prevailed from Nebraska to the East Atlantic States. South and south-east winds, with rising temperature, are now reported from the Mississippi Valley.

PROBABILITIES.

An area of low barometer will probably continue to develop on Tuesday over the valley of the Upper Mississippi and southward to Texas, the central lowest pressure moving slowly eastward toward Illinois with southerly winds and increasing cloudiness from the Lakes to the Gulf; northerly winds veering to the south-east prevail on the South Atlantic coast, and north-westerly winds in New-England and New-York; partially stormy and clear weather continue very generally throughout the Atlantic States; southeasterly winds and cloudy weather prevail on the Texas coast by Tuesday afternoon. Dangerous winds are not anticipated for Tuesday morning.

IN NEW-YORK CITY.

Yesterday was a remarkably fine day for the season. The thermometer indicated, at 6 A. M., 24°; 11 A. M., 34°; 2 P. M., 40°; 9 P. M., 35°. Barometer, 30.21, 30.24, 30.35, 30.24. Corresponding date last year: Thermometer, 27°, 36°, 40°, 37°. There are no indications of snow.

The New-Jersey Legislature—Proceedings in Both Houses Yesterday.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

TRENTON, Feb. 19.—In the Senate, this evening, a bill was introduced applying the local option to the town of Boonton; also, a bill providing for the presiding Judge in Morris County. In the House, bills were introduced to repeal the famous Local Option law of Chatham—the first and only one in operation; also, bills to incorporate the New-Jersey Camp-meeting Association, and to incorporate the Stanhope Railroad. A petition was presented for abolition of the death penalty. The Senate has postponed the consideration of all Temperance bills for two weeks. The House appointed a special Committee to inquire into the cost of a new wing to the State Prison, with power to send for persons and papers. The Committee on Joint Accounts declines to make an investigation of the affairs of the Controller's and Treasurer's offices unless the Senate concur in the order of the House. Both officers invite inquiry. A joint meeting for election of various State officers will be held tomorrow. The House postponed for three days the Hoboken Police bill after a sharp fight.

Ice in the Mississippi at St. Louis—Danger to Steamers.

St. LOUIS, Feb. 19.—There are now some thirty steamers, about thirty barges, a dozen ferry-tugs and tow-boats, nine large wharf-boats, which, with cargoes, are valued at nearly $1,750,000, are lying between the bridge piers, but apprehensions of danger are very much lessened since the ice in the harbor has been so badly broken up. Efforts are now being made with powerful tow-boats to open the river to Cairo. The weather is favorable, with the river rising above.

Murder of a German—His Friends "Clean Out" all the Liquor-Saloons in Town.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—At Horse Bluff, Wis., on Sunday morning, an Irishman named MURPHY, while intoxicated, killed a German named CRANTZ, whom he mistook for a man with whom he had had a difficulty. All the liquor-saloons in the town were destroyed by the murdered man's friends, and threats were made of lynching MURPHY.

Funeral of Mrs. Wm. B. Astor.

Grace Church was crowded yesterday morning by the friends of the late Mrs. WILLIAM B. ASTOR. Bishop POTTER, assisted by Rev. Dr. HOUGHTON, Rev. Dr. POTTER and Rev. Dr. DIX, performed the funeral services. The pall-bearers were Gen. Dix, Albert Gallatin, Daniel Lord, Warren Delano, Rev. Dr. Montgomery and A. T. Stewart. Among those present were Gov. Morgan, Gen. McDowell, Judge Bosworth, Van Rensselaer Cruger, Col. Van Buren, G. H. Schuyler, G. V. Stout, W. Newell Griffin, and many other leading citizens. The choir was composed of Mrs. OLIVER, soprano; Mrs. ROCHAU, contralto; Mr. SIMPSON, tenor, and Mr. CLARK, bass. Mr. WARREN presided at the organ. After the ceremonies, the remains were conveyed to Greenwood Cemetery for interment.

METHODIST CONVENTION.

Discussion in Reference to the Division of the City Between two Conferences—A Resolution Passed on the Subject.

A meeting of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this City was held last evening at the Seventh-street Church. The Convention was called to consider a matter claimed to be of vital interest to the spiritual welfare of the City. About twenty-five years ago the authorities of the Church divided the City into two parts, placing all that portion lying east of the Third-avenue and the Bowery in the New York East Conference, and leaving the rest of the City in the New-York Conference. The meeting last evening was for the purpose of memorializing the General Conference, which meets in May next, to abolish this line and place the whole City in one district, the same to be within the bounds of either Conference. The church was well-filled, and at the time for the meeting to come to order Mr. WM. K. PEYTON took the chair, and after devotional exercises Rev. Dr. CURRY was elected permanent Chairman, and Rev. B. M. ADAMS and WM. K. PEYTON, Secretaries.

The call for the meeting was read, and on motion of Mr. PEYTON a committee of five was ordered to prepare resolutions for the consideration of the meeting. These were duly nominated and elected, as follows: J. H. OCKERSHAUSEN, Chairman, and Messrs. FOSS, CRAWFORD, HAMILTON and ROSS. The Committee retired, and soon returned and reported the following resolution:

Resolved, In the judgment of this Convention, that the division of the City between two Conferences is detrimental to the interests of Methodism, and we petition the General Conference to obliterate the line.

A lively debate arose, participated in by many brethren. Rev. Mr. ROSS, who did not concur in the report, stated the view of the minority of the Committee to be that the line should be moved to Fourth-avenue. Here a substitute was offered looking to no action. Rev. Dr. PARKS, of the Bedford-street Church, showed some figures to prove the necessity for wiping out the line. Mr. DIGGS, of the Sunday-school and Church Extension Society, made an appeal in favor of the same action.

Mr. OCKERSHAUSEN made a speech in favor of the resolution, showing the needs of the City arising from the changed character of our population. The old veteran, Father LONGKING, also made a speech in favor of the resolution. It was then voted on, and 58 voted in favor and 11 voted against its adoption. The officers of the meeting were deputed to present this action to the General Conference, and the Convention adjourned, with the benediction, by Rev. Dr. BROWN. The drift of the discussion seemed to indicate that the lay element in the Methodist Episcopal Church is beginning to show more interest in the management of its affairs.

THE PERILS OF THE SEA.

Narrow Escape of the Steamer New-York—A Perilous Voyage.

The steamer New-York, of the North German line, experienced on her last trip from Bremen to this port, weather that is seldom met with in the Atlantic. The New-York left Bremen on the 27th of January, with a full cargo and some 380 passengers. The first three days at sea were comparatively mild, but on the 1st of February a gale that eventually led to a hurricane set in, and lasted throughout the greater part of the voyage. On the 6th the barometer fell to an extraordinary low degree, Capt. VON EMETER, who was on deck at the time, ordered all sails furled and the hatches battened down. This was done, and not a minute too soon; as in a few seconds the wind buried the sea over the vessel. Three days the hurricane continued. On the 9th, the storm having lulled, the first officer of the steamer, Mr. ANDERSON, ordered several sailors aloft, and CHRISTIAN SCHMIDT, while descending, lost his balance and was crushed to death by falling against the guards of the de

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE.....WASHINGTON, Monday, Feb. 18.

MEMORIAL.

Among the several reports presented to-day were the majority report of the Kidder Committee, accompanied by testimony, and by a bill to extend the operation of the law of May, 1870, to authorize the appointment of the bodies for the Executive. The Senate then went into Executive session, and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Blair presiding, on the Private Calendar. Many bills were reported favorably from the Committee, and passed, and the business of the country walked along for about an hour, when objection was made to further proceedings, and the House went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Conkling in the chair, on the Appropriation bills. These were then discussed and passed over, but the Committee rose at 4½ o'clock adjourned.

The Assassination Mystery.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I paper lay beside me this morning, containing the letter from an "Advocate for the Assassination," requesting me to write a letter to the widow of a Colonel of our Union Army. Filled with the desire to do something, even the smallest thing, to wipe away the terrible stain resting upon the nation, I sat down to write. The sheet was made, the ink, the pen were there, but never in my country's history was I more at a loss for words. I could not write to the widow of a man whose name is known only to the hangman, whose deed of blood has filled the land with horror, and whose memory is loathed by all. I could not write to the widow of a man who, in the hour of victory, when the nation's heart was overflowing with joy, when the whole land was ringing with the glad tidings of peace, when the nation's chief magistrate was receiving the congratulations of the people, when the nation's head was bowed in thankfulness to God, when the nation's heart was full of love for all, struck down the President, the nation's head, the nation's heart, the nation's friend. I could not write to the widow of a man who, by the foulest deed of the age, has filled the world with horror, and the nation with shame. I could not write to the widow of a man who has made the name of American synonymous with assassin. I could not write to the widow of a man who has made the name of Booth a name to be loathed and abhorred by all mankind

UNITED STATES SUPREME CUORT.

In the Supreme Court of the United States, today, the following decisions were rendered:

No. 70.—The Chicago and North-western Railroad Company vs. Whitton, Administrator.—Error to the Circuit Court for the District of Wisconsin.—Whitton brought suit as administrator of his wife's estate to recover damages for her death, caused by the running of the train. By instructions of the Court recovered $5,000. The charge was that only the pecuniary loss sustained by the plaintiff by the death of his wife could be obtained, and that in computing this injury, should be considered the personal qualities, the ability to be useful and the capacity to earn money of the deceased. On this charge the writ of error was taken because of the refusal of the Court to give in connection with it the proposition of the defense that there could be recovery only for the loss of the wife's service, and that if her maintenance was more than equal to the service there could be no recovery at all. This Court sustains the instructions given and affirms the judgment below, holding that the charge was substantially correct, and that in such a case it will not be deemed error that the Court refused to give the separate propositions offered by the defense, and that a verdict and judgment will not be set aside because of slight errors in portions of the charge, when taken apart from the rest, which do not appear when it is regarded as a whole. Mr. Justice FIELD delivered the opinion.

No. 45.—Pumpelly vs. Green Bay and Mississippi Canal Company.—Error to the Circuit Court for the District of Wisconsin.—This was an action of trespass brought by the plaintiff in error, charging the defendants with overflowing 640 acres of the plaintiff's land by means of a dam erected across the Fox River, the outlet of Lake Winnebago, by which the waters of the lake were raised so high as to do the damage complained of. The defense was, among other pleas, that there was no taking of the land within the provision of the Constitution against the taking of private property for public use, &c., and that the damage is a consequential result of such use of the navigable stream as the State, which had authorized the construction of the dam, had a right to for the improvement of its navigation. This construction was sustained below, but this Court say that such a construction would pervert the Constitutional provision into a restriction upon the rights of the citizens, as those rights stood at the common law, instead of the Government, and make it an authority for the invasion of private rights under the pretext of the public good, which had no warrant in the law or practices of our ancestors. The judgment is reversed, and the case remanded. Mr. Justice MILLER delivered the opinion.

No. 66.—County of Pendleton vs. Amy.—Error to the Circuit Court for Kentucky.—This was an action on certain bonds issued by the county to the Covington and Lexington Railroad Company. The defense was that the plaintiff was not the legal holder and owner, and that the bonds were not legally issued. These pleas were overruled on demurrer, and the judgment was for the plaintiff, below, Amy. This Court reverse the judgment and remand the cause, holding, that as the plea that the plaintiff was not the legal holder and owner amounted to a defense, it should not have been overruled on demurrer. Mr. Justice STRONG delivered the opinion.

No. 98.—Pugh vs. McCormick.—Error to Supreme Court of Louisiana.—In this the holder of a promissory note, which had not been stamped when made, applied to the Collector of Internal Revenue to stamp it, which was done, and the duties paid. When offering the note in evidence it was objected that the note was not properly stamped, because the penalty for not originally stamping it had not been paid. The objection was overruled, and the evidence admitted. This Court affirm that judgment, holding that the stamp was sufficient in law. Mr. Justice CLIFFORD delivered the opinion.

No. 289.—Carroll vs. The United States.—Appeal from the Court of Claims.—The plaintiff sued as the widow and administratrix of George W. Carroll, who was a resident of Arkansas, and who in his life-time had given aid to the rebellion. The claimant offered proof of her own loyalty, but the Court of Claims rejected the proof, and held that as her right as administratrix depended upon the proof of loyalty of the defendant; and, it having shown that he voluntarily gave aid and comfort to the rebellion, the petition must be dismissed; and this, although the cotton was seized after Carroll's death, and while in the possession of the claimant. This Court reverse the judgment, holding that the owner, under the act of 1863, is the person in whose hands the property is when captured, and that the Court erred in excluding the evidence of loyalty offered by the claimant. The Chief-Justice delivered the opinion.

No. 85.—Steam-boat Bridgeport vs. Shaw et al.—Appeal from the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of New-York.—This is a case of collision between the steam-boat Bridgeport and the ship Margaret Evans, which was moored at a pier of the East River, at New-York. The District and Circuit Courts found the steamer at fault, and so decreed, and this Court affirm the decrees. Mr. Justice BRADLEY delivered the opinion.

No. 354—Hawley vs. Street.—Error to Supreme Court of Iowa. Writ of error dismissed.

No. 264.—United States vs. Smoat.—Appeal from the Court of Claims. Motion for certiorari denied.

No. 296.—Philyp, &c. vs. Nock.—Error to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. Motion to dismiss denied.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS—FEB. 19.

Before Judge Barnard.

NOTICE TO THE CONTROLLER BEFORE EXECUTION AGAINST THE CITY.

Minch vs. The Mayor, &c.—Plaintiff obtained judgment against the City, and payment being refused, execution was issued. A motion was made on behalf of the City to vacate the execution, on the ground that notice of ten days had not been given to the Controller as required by the act of 1871. The Judge held that such notice must be given, and set aside the execution in default thereof.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM—FEB. 19.

Before Judge Monell.

DOMESTIC INFELICITY.

Mary Mesbach vs. Joseph Mesbach.—This is an action brought by the wife for divorce on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. The case came before the Court now on a motion on behalf of the wife for alimony and counsel fee. The Judge denied the motion.

UPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.—FEB. 19.

Before Judge Sedgwick and a Jury.

INJURIES ON A HORSE-CAR.

John Davis vs. The Broadway and Seventh-avenue Railroad Company.—This is an action to recover $7,000 damages for injuries charged to have resulted from the carelessness of the defendants. The plaintiff was riding on the defendants' car, and when turning the corner at Macdougal and Eighth streets, the car swung around so rapidly as to throw plaintiff off the platform and cause a fracture of his arm. The defense set up is a general denial, and the case is still on trial.

COMMON PLEAS—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—FEB. 19.

Before Judge Joseph F. Daly and a Jury.

LIABILITIES OF TRUSTEES OF CORPORATIONS.

George N. Crandall vs. Charles M. Hankins.—This action was brought against the defendant to enforce his liability as one of the trustees of a Mining Company, formed under the laws of this State, and for the dissolution of the Company to make and file its annual report, pursuant to the provisions of the statute. The Company gave its promissory note, on the 30th of April, 1866, for the sum of $1,000, payable in five months to the order of the plaintiff. The plaintiff proved that the Company did not, within twenty days from the 1st day of January, 1868, nor within twenty days from the 1st day of January of the three succeeding years, make and publish the report required by law. The defendant proved that he was elected a trustee on the 29th day of April, 1867. That the meeting at which he was elected was the last meeting held by the Company, and that since that time no business of any kind had been transacted. The counsel for the defendant claimed that inasmuch as the Company had become insolvent, and had ceased to do business from the time the defendant was elected a trustee, it was unnecessary to file the annual report in the January of 1868, or any subsequent year. The Judge charged the Jury, that corporations are not dissolved either by insolvency or by non-user. That the defendant being a trustee became personally liable for the debts of the company, notwithstanding its insolvency and non-user, they having failed to file the annual report required by law.

The jury rendered a verdict for the full amount claimed, with interest, amounting to $1,385.

Miller and Bunnell, for plaintiff; Messrs. Barlow and Quackenbos, for defendant.

MARINE COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—FEB. 19.

Before Judge Shea and a Jury.

ORIENTALS ON A LARK—AN ATTEMPTED FORCED LOAN OF A SLEIGH, AND ITS COST.

James Ward vs. John Cosgrove and Patrick Gallagher.—This was an action to recover $1,000 damages for assault an battery. It appeared that in the Winter of 1871, the plaintiff, who is a milkman, arrived at the Grand-street Ferry on the New-York side, between 4 and 5 o'clock in the morning, with his horse and sleigh and milk, on his way to Williamsburg to serve his route. While waiting for the boat to arrive, plaintiff went into the ferry-house to warm himself, whence he saw the defendants get into his sleigh and attempt to drive away. He immediately started out, and one of them, Cosgrove, struck plaintiff in the face. Plaintiff subsequently went before Justice SCOTT, where the defendants were merely held to bail to keep the peace. Regarding this as unsatisfactory, plaintiff brought the present suit. On the part of defendants it was claimed that they lived in the neighborhood; that they had been making a night of it at the Oriental Club, in the Seventh Ward; that their object in getting into the sleigh was merely to drive a lark, and that subsequently they went on board the boat and offered to apologize to plaintiff. The jury found in favor of plaintiff for $500 damages.

Samuel T. Courtney, for plaintiff; Price & Sweat, for defendants.

MARINE COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.—FEB. 19.

Before Judge Joachimsen.

LIABILITY OF EMPLOYER FOR BILLS CONTRACTED BY SERVANT.

Shaefer vs. Fowler.—The plaintiff in this case sued to recover $300, as the amount of a butcher's bill contracted by defendant's housekeeper. Defendant refused to pay, claiming that he had never authorized its being contracted, and that he had furnished his housekeeper regularly once a month with funds to liquidate all such house expenses.

Judgment for plaintiff for $219 38.

The Jumel Ejectment Suit.

In the Jumel case yesterday, the defense produced proof of the courtship and contract of marriage between the daughter of the defendant, NELSON CHASE, and Mr. PERRY, that marriage taking place in the distinct understanding that Mme. JUMEL was to leave half her property to PERRY'S wife, and the other half to her brother. It was sought to be shown that Mme. JUMEL had made such an agreement, and letters were read and Mr. PERRY testified in support of this. The object of this evidence was to show that Mme. JUMEL did not recognize any required action. The whole of the proof brought up yesterday was fully gone over in the Champlain-Bowen case, with the exception of some evidence to disprove certain statements of DANIEL HULL, in reference to a visit he said he had made to Mme. JUMEL in 1816, at Carmansville. It was proved that at the time named, no such place as Carmansville existed.

MONDAY, Feb. 20—P. M.

There is an advance today of ¼@½ ₱ cent in Gold and the same in Exchange on London, the latter closing firm at 109¾ ₱ cent. 60 days, and 110¼@110¾ ₱ cent. sight and short sight Bills. The demand for Gold is of a trade character, that is, from the Importers and Bankers to pay into the Treasury for Customs Duties and to purchase Exchange, a business wholly conducted in Gold. There is not much disposition in the Gold Room to speculate for a further rise, although in times past, such reasons for firmness as the present condition and prospects of the Foreign Exchanges and the political situation between England and the United States seem to justify, would have, probably, created a decided Bull interest in the Room. The tameness of speculation is the more remarkable as there is no very strong bearish feeling in regard to the probable course of Gold through the Spring months.

The Banks are not free lenders of Money, but they are able to accommodate their regular mercantile dealers and are not calling in, to any marked extent, their demand loans to Brokers at the same rate. Then the market has the advantage of large private banking balances, and today the rates are 6@7 ₱ cent. to the Brokers on a fair offering at the close of Bank hours.

The Stock Exchange has a brighter look than last week, with decided buoyancy on Union Pacific Stock, supposed to have been heavily oversold after the break in price last Wednesday or Thursday, down to 33@32 ₱ cent. The reported combination among the parties who will take complete control of the Road at the March election—embracing all the New-England members of the present Board of Directors and most of the New-York Directors, with the addition of what is called the Vanderbilt interest—has strengthened the Stock in the face of the most unfavorable look of the Winter and Spring traffic of the Road from snow-storms. Mr. THOMAS A. SCOTT, of the Pennsylvania Road, will decline re-election to the Presidency of the Union Pacific, and it is stated that Mr. HORACE F. CLARK, son-in-law of Mr. VANDERBILT, and President of the Lake Shore Road, will take his place. The Stock was made scarce for delivery today and considerable differences were made on seller's option, for delivery ahead. The transfers close for the March election on Saturday next, Feb. 24. Mr. SCOTT has agreed to take charge of the Texas Pacific enterprise in place of Mr. MARSHALL O. ROBERTS, who withdraws. The Lake Shore Stock, Northwest, New-York Central, &c., were firmer than on Saturday, but there was no decided advance in prices. Pacific Mail was also firmer, but free sellers appeared at 58@57⅞ ₱ cent. The shares of the Quicksilver Company made a further advance on Preferred Stock, and the belief is that the bulk of the Capital has been quietly taken up by or for account of the Messrs. ROTHSCHILD, who for years past have controlled the Quicksilver supply from both Spain and California. The Express Stocks advanced to 94 (including the $2 Quarterly Dividend) for the Adams Company, and 65¾ for the United States Company. In the Southern State Bonds, Tennessees and South Carolinas were again in demand and other descriptions dull. There was nothing new in the Railway Mortgages.

The Public Funds were ¼@½ ₱ cent. better than at the close of last week. The London telegrams reported a fair degree of firmness on the other side, while the rise in Gold and Exchange here justified an advance in the 5-20s and the 5 ₱ cents. dealt in abroad.

In regard to Washington news affecting, or likely to affect, the financial situation, we feel justified in predicting from present private as well as public information, that the Tax upon Incomes and Dividends for the year 1871, soon to be collected at the rate of 2½ ₱ cent., will not be repealed. The Tax expires by limitation with the Incomes upon the business of 1871, unless re-enacted, but all Corporate Dividends, in part or in whole, earned in 1871, as well as all private Incomes to the First of January, 1872, will be required to be paid. No Bill will pass to authorize Customs to be paid in part in anything but Gold. The faith of the Government, pledged in the Act of Feb. 25, 1862, on this subject, will not be impaired by the Republican Administration. The Bill which recently passed the Senate, to withdraw $3,000,000 per month, additional to the authority of July, 1870, of the Three ₱ cent. Greenback Certificates, has been sent to the Banking and Currency Committee of the House, and as a proposition for contracting Legal Tenders in advance of the increase of the National Bank Circulation, is not likely to pass. The Tariff, so far as it affects American Industry, will scarcely be disturbed. Whatever can be spared from the present Customs Revenue, with prudent regard to the support of the Public Debt and the ordinary expenditures of the Government, will probably be taken off such articles as Tea and Coffee, of universal consumption among the people, and not coming in competition with American industry or production. The House of Representatives today passed the Bill abolishing the whole duty on Tea and Coffee, under the two-thirds suspension of the rules. If the bill should pass the Senate and become a law, it will take about $19,000,000 from the present Customs Revenue, being about the whole sum which the Annual Report of the Secretary of the Treasury allowed could be safely taken off this year.

The Customs Duties paid into the New-York Office of the Treasury today amount to the unusually large sum of $1,140,000 in Gold, owing to the fleet of European steamers, all with valuable cargoes, that arrived on Saturday, Sunday and this morning.

After the Second Board the Stock Exchange was strong on the Public Funds, and again active and excited on the Stock of the Union Pacific Road; the Foreign Exchange firm at 109¾@109¾ ₱ cent., sixty days, London, and Gold firm at 110⅜ ₱ cent. bid. The following general quotations were made as compared with Saturday night:

The utmost care will be devoted to gathering political news from special sources during the Presidential canvass. This department of the paper will be unusually full and trustworthy. Renewed enterprise will be exhibited in every department of the paper, and large space will be devoted to reports of speeches made during elections, or on other important political occasions.

A very full summary of news, and many genera articles of great interest, are published in the Semi-weekly editions; and in the Weekly edition there is an unabridged report of the proceedings at the Farmers' Club, an excellent summary of political information, and a great variety of matter suitable for family reading.

The NEW-YORK TIMES is pre-eminently a family paper, all objectionable advertisements being rigidly excluded; and it has a constantly increasing circulation among the most respectable classes of the community.

The old tactics of the Tammany thieves are being revived. Mr. ANDREW H. GREEN, who alone stands between the citizens and the reckless robbery formerly practiced under the signatures of CONNOLLY and HALL, is daily bullied and insulted by a crowd of roughs—not honest working men, but hired gangs, led by forgers and ruffians. The Tweed crew expect to regain power ere long. Mayor HALL, they say, will bring them through all their troubles. ANDREW H. GREEN is to be ousted, and TOM FIELDS, or somebody of the same stamp, put in his place. Will the citizens submit to this? If not, let them go to the meeting at Cooper Institute to-night, and make the scoundrels who are lying in wait to attack them understand that they are resolved never to be ruled again by a horde of banditti.

In thirty-five months President GRANT has reduced the national debt $287,958,310, insuring an annual saving to the tax-payers, in interest, of $17,598,084. Can a bolting Republican, elected by Democratic repudiators, be expected to improve on this?

Mr. CONKLING yesterday replied to the elaborate speeches of Messrs. SUMNER and SCHURZ on the sale of arms during the French and German war. His exposure of the motive for the introduction of the preposterous preamble, which no Senator could vote for without declaring the country disgraced, was very scathing, and added to the discomfort already brought on the authors of the resolution. It cannot have been pleasant to Mr. SUMNER to have had the fact published that the Democratic Committees are flooding New-Hampshire with his speeches. But that is a slight humiliation compared to the growing popular conviction that he has utterly forgotten patriotism in an unsuccessful attempt to gratify his personal and political resentment. Moreover, he bids fair to have his fill of investigation. His scandalous preamble will be voted down by a majority that will further mortify him, but the investigation he called for he will get, with the addition of an inquiry as to whether he, or any other Senator, has been committing a penal offence in "carrying on a correspondence with the agent of a foreign Government, with intent to influence the conduct of a foreign Government to defeat the measures of the United States." No one doubts that the conduct of Messrs. SUMNER and SCHURZ has been disgraceful; the question yet remains whether it has not been unlawful.

A bill has been devised by the Committee of Ninety to provide for the needs of the City in the matter of quick transit. The Committee propose to create a Commission of Railways to take charge of the whole matter, receive proposals, grant franchises, supervise the building of roads, whether under-ground or above ground, steam roads or other, and to superintend their running, the fares to be collected on them, &c. The idea of the Committee is worth considering, and the question is one second in importance to none except that of good general government; but a bill bestowing such great powers should be very carefully guarded—more carefully than this one appears to be.

The Committees having under consideration the bills affecting Erie, have now a week to consider their duties. Will they take the trouble to ask their constituents what they think of the following notorious facts? In less than four years the Erie Ring has confessedly increased the capital and debt of the Erie Road $65,394,380, and there is no explanation of what has been done with this enormous sum. It is believed that they have stolen it. In addition to this, the Ring, with this great increase of capital, do not account for the income of the road, which shrank from the net amount of $1,048,900 in 1867, to only $118,965 in 1871. Meantime the Ring have grown very wealthy, and the stockholders would like to get the property in their own hands again. Perhaps the Committees, after consulting their constituents, can see their way clear to report the bills which enable the stockholders to gratify this very natural desire.

Another Judicial Farce.

There are few intelligent men in the community who will not be shocked at the outrageous burlesque on the forms of justice which Judge BEDFORD permitted to be enacted yesterday in the Court of General Sessions. We are accustomed in this City to strange scenes in Courts of Justice. We have Judges who make up for their deficiency in learning by an abundance of bawdy jests and filthy oaths. We have others who are the bosom friends of pimps and thieves, and take care to be on the bench whenever any of their "chums" are in "trouble." We have others who try to win public confidence by loud protestations of their desire to do their duty, while having a secret understanding with the knaves brought before them. We have two or three, let us hope, who possess a conscience—and we have tried to think that Judge BEDFORD was one of them. But such a scene as that which took place yesterday is almost without parallel in the recent disgraceful history of our Courts. It was the most audacious and shameful insult ever leveled at the community.

Mayor HALL—who signed all the fraudulent warrants by which the people have been so wickedly robbed, and who deliberately and repeatedly defended them after their true character had been thoroughly exposed—this man, we say, presented himself yesterday before a Judge who is his intimate friend, and went through a performance which had evidently been elaborately prepared beforehand, and which constitutes the most impudent act yet committed by the most impudent man in the world. It had been settled that his trial could not take place in consequence of the absence of Judge DALY. That was definitely understood days ago. But with a cunning which could only be developed by years of personal familiarity with the worst criminals in the land, HALL went down to the Court to insist on his instant trial. The preliminaries were all arranged. The Court was packed with HALL's friends. When he appeared they set up a shout of applause. The Attorney-General, who was to prosecute, literally found himself in a den of thieves. When he opened his mouth he was hissed. When HALL struck an attitude and began to spout, his voice was half drowned in cheers. "If my deadliest enemy were on that bench," exclaimed the confederate of TWEED and SWEENY, "I would have the case tried before him." In the meantime it was his most intimate friend who sat on the Bench. It was perfectly safe to demand an instant trial. The Attorney-General explained that the postponement had been agreed upon—that neither papers nor counsel for the prosecution were in Court—that consequently the trial could not possibly go on. But what is so fine as to see an accused person beating his breast, calling Heaven to witness that he is innocent, and crying out for an instant trial? Is not that enough to move the sympathies of mankind? Would any guilty man dare to call for a speedy trial, especially with his bosom friend on the bench? The Judge did his best to keep up the farce. "The accused feels confident of his innocence," said he in his most touching accents. A Judge could not say very much more to show that he had already settled the case in his own mind. Why not get it over pleasantly, there and then, and let the whole Court adjourn for a drink at Mayor HALL's expense? The accused believed in his own innocence. He wanted to be tried by his "bitterest enemy," or failing that, by his dearest friend, which would answer the purpose a little better. What has justice to do with such an affair as this? Why not let MOORE, the emigrant swindler, come into Court some fine morning, in the absence of prosecuting officers and evidence, and insist on being "tried" that very moment? He, too, is confident of his innocence. That alone ought to be enough to acquit him. Is it not a barbarous thing even to subject a man to legal prosecution who is known by the Judge to be conscious of his own rectitude?

The Attorney-General stood firm, but it appears from the report that the trial would actually have been forced on but for the scruples of the Assistant District-Attorney, whose practiced nerves were a little startled by this monstrous travesty of justice. HALL went on spouting wild rubbish about his innocence. The Judge was deeply affected. The spectators burst out into rapturous cheers. The newspapers which cling to the skirts of the Ring will come out this morning and say: "You see? Hall is anxious for a trial—especially at a time when the prosecution is not ready, and his bitterest enemy is not on the Bench. What further proof of his innocence do you require?" The poor tax-payers may rejoin, "All very fine; but we could not have been robbed of those millions if HALL had not connived with the thieves. He signed the warrants. He defended them. If our confidential clerk betrays us, and we are plundered in consequence, is the clerk guilty of no offense?" But what is the good of remonstrance? HALL "is confident of his innocence." The machinery of justice is largely controlled by him. The dispersed members of the Ring depend upon him for their restoration to power. Public feeling against them has a little subsided. With a bold dash, all may yet be retrieved. "Our time will come again," said one of the Tammany sachems the other day, "and then—look out!" Look out indeed! When that day comes, New-York will be a remarkably good place to emigrate from. The yoke which we have partially thrown off will be riveted ten times more firmly upon our necks. The City, just beginning to recover from unheard of oppressions and robberies, will sink deeper than ever. This is the prospect before us. What will the people do to avert this tremendous disaster and disgrace?

The Guardian of the Public Purse.

There are two things upon which the corrupt political cliques of the City and their friends at Albany are agreed. These are, to defeat the passage of a reform charter, and to get Mr. ANDREW H. GREEN out of the Controller's office. In other words, they are resolved to bend their united strength to the task of cheating the people out of the fruits of a great victory. We expect that to-night's meeting will show that the overwhelming mass of the community of New-York, outside of the ranks of professional politicians, are as much in earnest as they were in November last on the subject of a re-organization of the City Government.

In their conspiracy against Controller GREEN, the ruck of the Tammany Democracy and their Republican allies are equally certain to be defeated. Mr. GREEN's discharge of his present duties needs no defense from us. We have given him, and shall continue to give him, an entirely independent support, on the simple ground that he is the ablest and most faithful public servant whom New-York has had for many years, and that he has fought the people's battle against official corruption at the most critical and vital point of the entire situation. The disgraceful demonstration of Saturday last is merely part of a concerted effort which will be made at future meetings of the Board of Audit, and in the Press, to intimidate and browbeat the Controller into sanctioning claims for supplies which were never furnished, and for services which were never rendered. Journals which have been conspicuous for opposing every step of the movement in favor of reform, begin the attempt to cast odium upon Mr. GREEN, on the ground that he is keeping needy clerks and laborers out of their pay. That there has been delay in paying certain just claims, is unquestionably true; but it is equally true that Mr. GREEN is not to blame for this. It should also be understood that at the present moment there are comparatively few honest claims for services rendered which remain unpaid, and that the people who are trying to bully the Controller are those who have no right to be paid at all. The fact that from Sept. 16, 1871, to Feb. 19, 1872, there have been paid on account of wages $5,002,217 29, will serve to illustrate this. For the last three and a half months of 1871, the Controller had to struggle along in the face of active opposition from the heads of other Departments, with a treasury on the verge of bankruptcy, and with the business of the City in a general state of chaos. He found pay-rolls weeks, and even months in arrears, appropriations for permanent works and for current expenses either exhausted, or with balances entirely insufficient to meet the demands of the year. The managers of banks and trust companies looked shy at temporary loans to a Government which had HALL in the Mayor's chair, TWEED in the Department of Works, and SWEENY in that of Parks.

On Mr. GREEN solely devolved the task of sustaining the credit of the City during that critical time, of preventing thousands of men from being thrown out of employment, and of arresting the utter disorganization which threatened the Municipal fabric. Promptly at the opening of the Legislature, Mr. GREEN presented his petition for relief from the financial pressure which bore upon all Departments of the City Government. He pointed out, very clearly, the distress which would be brought upon thousands of families if power was not immediately given him to meet all legal claims against the City. The Legislature wrangled for about five weeks over the concession of an urgent and proper request, and finally passed a bill whose provisions were so confused and contradictory that it had to be rendered capable of execution by supplementary legislation. The supplementary bill was signed only ten days ago—nearly seven weeks after the presentation of the pressing demand of Mr. GREEN to the Legislature. During all this interval, the wheels of the Treasury were clogged, and the hands of the Controller were simply tied.

On Saturday, the 9th inst., the Board of Audit as a working body was practically organized. The bill under which they were constituted prescribes a critical examination of every item of every account presented for payment. At least this is the way in which Controller GREEN and all honest men interpret the command "to audit." Take the portion of City claims represented by the pay-rolls in arrears, and see how this works. It must be remembered that a large proportion of the pay-rolls for last year remaining unpaid, are of a highly doubtful character, representing the inheritance of TWEED and SWEENY's administration, and the necessities of Tammany at last election. In any case they must be audited, and to audit a pay-roll is, of course, to find out whether every man upon it did the work for which he claims payment. Messrs. GREEN STEBBINS and VAN NORT, sitting in public as a Board of Audit, cannot obviously do this, and the result is, that the entire mass of claims, legal and fraudulent, are "revised," as they should have been long ago, by the Controller. The Finance Department, in addition to its current business, has suddenly thrown upon it a vast accumulation of arrears. Pay-rolls containing from two to two thousand names, and bills for supplies still more varied and intricate, have to be carefully scanned and tested.

As a sample of the sort of work demanded from the Controller and his subordinates, take the following: A pay-roll for October comes from the Department of Public Works containing the names of ninety-two men who are called Water Police, and whose salary for the month amounts to over $8,000. A little examination shows that the old Croton Board employed only from twenty to twenty-five men for the same work. Each man on the roll is summoned personally, and requested to make an affidavit that he performed the duties with which he is credited. Inquiry reveals the fact that the actual work has been done by a few men, and that the duties of at least three-fourths of the men on the roll were confined to reporting themselves at TWEED's office in the morning, and loafing during the rest of the day. The Controller cannot recommend the payment of a pay-roll like this without betraying the public trust and breaking the law. Here is another sample: A pay-roll, also for October, appears with TWEED's signature affixed, on which appear the names of ninety painters, who are certified as having been employed in the painting of City lamps and lamp-posts. The men being individually summoned to make affidavits about their work, testify that from ten to twenty-five lamps and lamp-posts were painted by each man per diem. Taking the low average of fifteen for each man, it would be found that this corps of painters ought to have painted during the twenty-six working days of October 35,100 lamps and posts. As there are but 20,000 of these within the entire City limits, it becomes at once apparent that the claim of the painters is not of that valid kind which the law requires.

We understand that it was chiefly men who figure upon these two obviously fraudulent pay-rolls who made the disturbance in the Controller's office on Saturday last. Examples like these ought to show the public how arduous is the struggle which Mr. GREEN has still to wage against what is left of Tammany corruption. The stump speeches by Mr. VAN NORT, which marked the early sessions of the Board of Audit, have doubtless helped to encourage the insolence of the rowdy retainers of Tammany; and the immunity from punishment of the greater rascals has confirmed the rank and file in the hope that their power is not yet gone. We trust that every taxpayer has a clear perception of how much depends on keeping Mr. GREEN in the Controller's office. The public Treasury is being honestly guarded for the first time in many years, and the only people who feel this state of things oppressive are those who have been accustomed to live on the plunder of their fellow-citizens. Will the public see Mr. GREEN driven out of his present office by ruffians and thieves?

The Meeting This Evening.

The Committee of Seventy call upon our citizens, without regard to party, to meet them once more at the Cooper Institute this evening, to sustain an organic law, framed as a City charter should be, with a sole regard to the public welfare. That an instrument of that character should meet with the hostility of all the trading local politicians, who see the chances of profitably continuing their nefarious business seriously interfered with, should occasion no surprise; but it does surprise us that honest and well-meaning reformers can at the present moment doubt their clear duty in the premises. The general principles upon which the act which has been ordered to a third reading are framed, cannot successfully be attacked nor belittled. If any charter is to be passed by our Legislature which will give our citizens the right of self-government, let it be given to all, and not to a part of our citizens. Each and every act which has thus far been performed by the opponents of the Seventy, as a substitute for their measure of relief, denies the people that right. One-half of the session of the Legislature is now past. Can it be pretended that any other charter for the City can be prepared during this recess, or thereafter, which will be as well considered as the one upon which our foremost lawyers and political thinkers have labored for months, and which has passed the ordeal of legislative action in Committee of the Whole of the Assembly, without material amendments during four days of last week? There should be no uncertain note this evening. The Committee which has so earnestly, so disinterestedly worked for the common weal, deserve and should receive at our hands unqualified support. The time for cavil on small points is at an end. Men must be on the side of honesty and reform, or on the side of dishonesty and fraud. The war against knavery is still waging, and half-and-half reformers are more dangerous than open enemies. The meeting this evening will close up ranks, and give men an opportunity to declare themselves for or against decent and honest City government.

The Charter.

Mr. GREELEY declares that he is in favor of the charter of the Committee of Seventy, reserving the right to "propose or to favor amendments whenever he shall deem such amendments necessary or advisable," and he calls upon the friends of the charter to defer to the suggestions of SAMUEL J. TILDEN and THOMAS G. ALVORD, "when they seem reasonable." We wish Mr. GREELEY and Mr. TILDEN would tell us what amendments they desire. The only suggestions of amendment we have heard, have come from Mr. ALVORD. That gentleman objects to the feature of the charter which legislates out of office the present Aldermen and Assistant Aldermen and opposes the system of cumulative voting. As to the latter amendment, Mr. GREELEY says that he does not deem such an amendment "reasonable." On the contrary, he especially objects to it. The only admissible amendment, therefore, thus far suggested, is to leave the Aldermen and Assistants in office. Does Mr. GREELEY really think that the cause of reform so imperatively requires this that the charter is to be delayed or opposed till it is granted? Does he not rather believe that the cause of reform will be promoted by starting with an entire "new deal," wiping out all the present incumbents, and leaving the people to re-elect them if they choose? What amendments do Mr. GREELEY and his friends desire as conditions of his and their ardent support of the charter? Will he not state them publicly? We know that the Committee of Seventy earnestly wish that the charter should pass by the affirmative votes of not less than one hundred members of the Assembly. Mr. GREELEY can do much to secure that number. What changes will induce him to go to work in earnest? As a good citizen, possessing power, and therefore charged with responsibility, he should state specifically what he wants—not what he would prefer if he were the sole arbiter, but what will content him and satisfy him now, so that the charter may be instantly passed.

Greeley and Hank Smith.

Mr. GREELEY denies that he has attempted to shield HANK SMITH, President of the swindling Bowling-green Savings Bank, and President, also, of the Police Commission—the last being a very pretty position for a man to occupy who is accused of committing or conniving at great and cruel frauds. But Mr. GREELEY is proverbially very ready at "denials." The course he has taken on this question cannot be disposed of by his calling people slanderers, or "liars and villains." He has only published the particulars of the Bowling-green fraud in a mutilated form. He is speaking out a little more plainly now, under pressure—and we hope to keep him to that point.

Again, Mr. GREELEY quotes a passage from the TIMES, as follows, with a comment:

"'If Mr. GREELEY had not lent his own name to lure depositors to the Bowling-green Savings Bank, would he be so anxious to cover up HANK SMITH's frauds?'—Times.

If Mr. GREELEY had lent his name for any such purpose, that would have been a strong additional reason, for not covering up, but for exposing, any frauds committed in the premises. But he never did anything of the kind. His name was printed as President of the National Bureau of Immigration, which he had consented to be, which consent he has since withdrawn. He never took part in any proceeding by which the savings bank in question was indorsed or otherwise commended."—Tribune.

Now, the fact is, that Mr. GREELEY's name was advertised in his own paper as inviting people desirous of immigrating, to deposit their money in the Bowling-green Savings Bank, at that time in a bankrupt condition. That intending immigrants did not take his advice is lucky for them, but is no credit to Mr. GREELEY. We have put this matter very plainly once or twice, and we read a paragraph yesterday evening in the Brooklyn Eagle which sums up the case very briefly and acurately, and we reprint it here:

"The Tribune and TIMES are busy discussing the question whether HANK SMITH and HORACE GREELEY are alike morally responsible to the depositors of the bankrupt Bowling-green Savings Bank. Both journals hold that President SMITH is responsible, and the Tribune says he 'cannot plead he had no part in that management.' That is a sound principle. He who pretends to manage a bank should be liable for neglect of management. The Tribune admits that GREELEY's 'name was printed as President of the National Bureau of Immigration, which he had consented to be.' That Bureau recommended its constituents to deposit in the Bowling-green Bank. On the Tribune's own theory, then, GREELEY is responsible for the consequences of that recommendation."

Mr. GREELEY's name may be seen in his own paper, advertised with HANK SMITH's, in connection with the Bowling-green Savings Bank. Mr. GREELEY can no more deny that than he can deny that he was a fellow director of the Tobacco Manufacturing Company (raw material, Chappaqua cabbages) with "Boss" TWEED and "Nat" SANDS.

There is another thing which Mr. GREELEY cannot deny: It is that the Tribune is cheating the tax-payers by publishing columns of corporation advertisements which are not ordered to be printed on any proper authority. This is a distinct fraud upon the City.

Our Demoralized Police Force.

Since the administration of Mayor WOOD, it is safe to say that the Police force of New-York City has never stood in more urgent need of reorganization than it does at the present day. While Mr. THOMAS ACTON was Chairman of the Commission, there was a strong effort made to secure respectable men to fill the offices of Captains and Sergeants, and there seemed then a reasonable probability that in time we should have a force that for discipline would not be second to any in the world. Immediately following the resignation of Mr. ACTON came a Democratic majority in the Legislature, and a reconstruction of the Police Commission. One of the first acts of the new Commissioners was the appointment of the late Capt. JOHN JOURDAN to succeed Mr. JOHN A. KENNEDY as Superintendent. JOURDAN was known to be thoroughly competent to discharge the duties of such a position, and his promotion was, therefore, satisfactory to both political parties. Having risen from the ranks, he knew all the weak points of the system, and began at once to enforce a degree of discipline which caused a good deal of consternation among the Captains and Sergeants. Those who read the reports in the newspapers at the time will remember how many of these officers he caught napping on the first night of his round of visits to the Station-houses. Several dismissals were the result of this unexampled industry. Then came the raid upon the gift-jewelry swindlers, and the total annihilation of a business that had been continued for years without a single conviction. This work was achieved by placing a policeman on duty at the door of every gift-jeweler, to warn unsuspecting persons of the nature of the swindle that was prepared for them. Unfortunately for the public service, the Nathan murder occurred just about then, and the outcry against the Police was so great that poor JOURDAN felt it imperative upon him either to bring the assassin to justice or resign. Day after day, and night after night, he pored over such scraps of evidence as he could gather, but the strain proved too much for his strength, and he sank and died under it.

To fill the vacancy occasioned by his death, JAMES KELSO, the brother-in-law of TWEED's pliant tool, CORNELIUS CORSON, was selected, and he, KELSO, has been endeavoring with much success to not only undo all his predecessor's work, but to restore the force to what it was in the old evil days. He has even outdone CORSON in his pliancy to the wishes of "Ancillary" BARR and the Tammany knaves. With his sanction, such men as LOONEY have been sent to certain precincts for the purpose of intimidating voters, while the gamblers and thieves have been allowed to enjoy complete immunity from arrest. Captains and Sergeants are no longer in fear of a nocturnal visit from the Chief, and the roundsmen, being infected by the indifference of their superior officers, don't care to have it supposed that they embody all the severity in themselves. Can it be wondered at, therefore, that the patrolmen take it easy, too, and that at night a person may walk fifteen blocks without encountering a policeman? The outrages that have lately been perpetrated on Broadway, almost within view of a much-frequented hotel, fully attest the truth of these charges. Now, in order to cover up his shortcomings, and appear in the eyes of the public as a most exemplary official, Mr. KELSO sometimes treats us to a little by-play in the shape of a raid upon a Broadway concert-saloon, or a "keno" den in an obscure neighborhood. But the truth is, we are sick alike of his farces and of himself, and shall most heartily welcome any plan that is calculated to give us a better Police system and a better set of superior officers. We cannot expect Policemen to catch thieves when such men as HANK SMITH order all their movements.

The Author of "Rabagas."

M. VICTORIEN SARDOU, whose fame as the author of "Rabagas" bids fair to outshine all that he has gained before, is bitterly attacked by the Republican journals at Paris for political inconsistency. They say that on the morning the news of Sedan reached Paris, SARDOU went capering about like a mad man. At Marly he woke up an intimate friend with cries of joy. "What's the matter?" said the friend. "The army is captured at Sedan," shouted the author, rapturously. "The Emperor is a prisoner. Now we shall have it." "Have what?" "Why, the Republic, of course. To Paris! To Paris! Our friends wait for us." The République Française, in giving this anecdote, cynically remarks that for twenty years the friend had lived next door to SARDOU and never before knew he was so ardent a Republican.

Pushing on to Paris in hot haste, M. SARDOU yet arrived too late to take part in the occupation of the Corps Législatif. But he did something much more dramatic. He put himself at the head of a howling crowd, and marched to the Tuileries. The rabble cheered the author of the Famille Bénoiton, who yelled back at them apostrophes like the following: "At last we have it, this great Republic! What a great day! What a great people! Now for such amusements as a Revolution alone can give to the faithful!" After this SARDOU rushed back to Marly, seized the flag which ornamented the Town Hall, and—with the same hands that wrote "Rabagas," says one of his indignant accusers—tore off the eagle of the Empire from the flagstaff.

Presently came the capitulation of Paris, the insurrection, and the overthrow of the Commune; and with these events M. SARDOU's political gospel changed. The Republic now became to him merely a piece that had failed. Something must be provided quickly to fill the gap; so he sat down and wrote "Rabagas." We have only the outlines of this production, but we know that it has made a great noise. First it was prohibited, and then excised, but first and last it has created an immense commotion, which, by latest advices, was on the increase. "Rabagas" is savagely anti-Republican, ridicules GAMBETTA mercilessly, and foreshadows the return of NAPOLEON III. Time will show whether the flexible dramatists' rising sun is veritable or only a mirage. It is perhaps only natural that he should take a theatrical view of all situations, and prize no drama, political or other, that does not seem certain to have a "run." If the Ex-Emperor does come back to Paris, M. SARDOU will, doubtless, get what a ward politician would call a "front seat" for his pains.

MINOR TOPICS.

Every family in New-York has a vital interest in seeing the City well-governed. The Charter of the Committee of Seventy aims at giving the people, once more, the management of their own affairs. We trust, therefore, that the people will show, by attending the meeting to-night in the hall of the Cooper Union, that they are not indifferent to the great issues which that charter involves. The Legislature is waiting to see what the citizens of New-York have to say on the question of local government, and if Reform is to succeed at Albany at all, it must be by the aid of the emphatic reindorsement of all classes of the community. Give the politicians a chance of urging that the people have grown apathetic or indifferent, and they will have legislation all their own way. This way leads to official plunder and municipal bankruptcy. Don't risk anything by staying away from to-night's meeting. The problem of living is hard enough without being made harder by the ruinous taxation and the renewed growth of the City debt, which will follow the defeat of the great Reform movement.

Certain statements affecting the judicial record of Judge MCCUNN came to us through one of the usual news channels, and were inserted in the TIMES of yesterday. In another column will be found an explicit denial of these charges by Judge MCCUNN. Our readers will agree with us in thinking that the card referred to is entitled to greater consideration than could be accorded to general statements, given simply as the voice of current rumor.

The Committee on Commerce and Navigation, appointed to inquire into the Quarantine frauds and kindred matters, have appointed HENRY W. JOHNSON as counsel—bad move number one, for Mr. JOHNSON was formerly counsel to the Quarantine Board, counsel for SWINBURNE, CARNOCHAN, and all other persons connected with Quarantine business for the past seven years. Then the Committee, it is reported, are to go on an excursion in CARNOCHAN's tug, Andrew Fletcher, on Wednesday—bad move number two. Perhaps, however, there may be some good explanation of these strange proceedings, and if so we shall be glad to hear it.

It is difficult to conceive of a more purely wanton and devilish piece of villainy than was lately attempted in an English theatre. During the representation of a pantomime, nearly twenty of the performers, young women and children, had to be hoisted to a considerable height above the stage. They were distributed into five groups, and as one of these was being raised, the rope used for the purpose broke. It was then discovered that four out of the five strands in it had been cut, and upon examination at the close of the scene, the other four ropes were found to have been similarly treated. Fortunately, they had been cut too little, as the first too much, and so by the merest chance this heartless piece of wickedness was frustrated. Had it succeeded, hardly any of its intended victims could have escaped either instant death or very painful injury, since the fall was forty feet.

It seems to be a belief of Democratic leaders that liberty in abuse is a constitutional if not a natural right. Yesterday the minority of the Kuklux Committee coolly asked the House to accept and print, for their use in the Presidential campaign, a report which contained the most scurrilous language with reference to the majority of the Committee and to Congress as a body. They did not, however, succeed, and were plainly told that they must reduce their report to a respectful form before it could be received at all. The reception and printing of a minority report being purely a matter of favor, the reasonableness of this condition is apparent. Meanwhile, we ask the Democratic papers to note and remember the fact that FRANK BLAIR, in the Senate, admitted that the majority of the Committee had acted in good faith and with fairness. It will save some useless slander.

Don't fail to attend the meeting at the Cooper Union to-night. Go, if it be only to see that the hall is packed to overflowing, and that the enthusiasm within is echoed by plaudits out-of-doors. There must be no excuse for supposing that the great victory of November was the result of a spasmodic outburst of popular feeling, which may not occur for years again. There is a conspiracy afoot to cheat the people out of the fruits of that victory, and this conspiracy will gain new energy if the people leave the Reform charter to take care of itself. Let it be shown that the Committee of Seventy can command as powerful an indorsement as they ever did, and schemes for partisan profit will be crushed both in the City and in the Legislature. Men elected in November have fallen away from the pledges of reform. It must be unmistakably shown that the determination of the great mass of this community is as firmly fixed as it ever was to wrest the control of City affairs from the hands of the trading politicians of both parties.

NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

Sanguine Predictions of Republican Successes in March.

From the Manchester (N. H.) Mirror Feb. 17.

"What is the prospect?" This is asked a thousand times a day, a score of times of us some days. We have looked over the ground; corresponded with many parties in different towns; traveled considerably over the State, and met men of all parties and interests; have spent a few hours in looking over the canvass returned to the State Committee; and read many letters from all sections of the State, and we are prepared to say that victory awaits us.

We feel great confidence that we shall elect Mr. STRAW by the people, by a handsome majority. There is no doubt but that we shall carry three Councilor districts, the First, Third and Fourth, giving us a majority of the Executive Council, while in the Second District we shall follow close up to our Democratic opponent. We are confident of seven of the twelve Senators, and are likely to elect in nine districts in all but the Sixth, Eighth, Twelfth, and in the event of a failure on our part, in any one of the three most doubtful, we shall be able to prevent our opponents from choosing.

Now for the House, where the great contest is coming, for which the Democracy are mustering all their capital and nearly all their labor. There were last year 299 members elected, while vacancies occurred sufficient to bring the whole number of members up to about 343, which we believe is the largest number ever sent to the House. This year if the Democracy carry out their plans and elect an extra member in every town where there is a considerable surplus of polls, as they are planning to do, we must calculate on 350 members elect. We judge only by our observation and the information given by reliable men, by letter and in conversation. We find there are but few towns where losses are liable, about ten in the whole State, while the canvass assures us that we shall gain twice that number, to say the least. There have been disaffections in several towns, which are now forgotten in the great necessity of carrying the State. There are other towns where local dissensions alone will prevent us from gaining a victory. Without going into particulars, we have good reason to believe that our majority in the Houses will exceed twenty-five.

This is, all these, are within our grasp if we will but forget ourselves personally and give our energies to the work. But it will be achieved only by personal sacrifices, individual effort and persistent watchfulness. With the effort we have often put into the work, we shall triumph in the contest, and elect Governor, Council, Senate and House.

OBITUARY.

Gen. Salem Towne.

Hon. SALEM TOWNE, aged ninety-two, died in Charlton, Mass., on Saturday last, in the house in which he was born. He served several terms in the State Legislature; was Colonel in the American Army in the war of 1812, and was afterward made General of the State Militia. He was widely known as the author of Towne's Speller.

The Story of a Trunk—How Stolen Property is Recovered on the Erie.

From Our Own Correspondent.

DEPOSIT, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1872.

In the month of November last a trunk belonging to Miss MARTHA DAVIS, containing valuable clothing and quite a sum of money, was stolen from the Erie Depot at this place, as the owner was about starting for Springfield, Ill. No trace of the trunk or the thief was obtained until a few weeks since, when a colored man named CHARLES WILLIAMS was seen by Station Agent BELKNAP to make several visits to the company's wood-pile, near the depot, and carry off a quantity of wood each time. This led to a watch being set upon him, and it was observed that WILLIAMS and his wife were wearing clothes of a quality and in a quantity not in keeping with their station. A search-warrant was procured, and a visit made to their house. WILLIAMS was arrested and a search made of the house, resulting in the finding of about $200 worth of wearing apparel, which answered the description of some of the contents of Miss DAVIS' trunk. A large amount of other property was also found, which was no doubt stolen. WILLIAMS was taken in charge by Officer BARKER. As he was proceeding up Main-street with his prisoner, who was handcuffed, the latter broke from the officer's grasp, and, shackled as he was, made for the woods. A large number started in pursuit, but he eluded all pursuers, and has not since been heard of.

OPPONENTS OF THE CHARTER.

We wish that all good citizens could have been at Albany last week, and seen the motley character of the crowd from this City who were opposing the charter of the Committee of Seventy. The most numerous and loudest-mouthed were the Tammany Republicans, those who are holding office under the present charter, or are deriving benefits from it, and who see that the passage of the new charter dooms them once more to honest labor or starvation. These sturdy patriots were very indignant with the charter, because it was not framed sufficiently in the interest of the Republican Party to suit them, though they failed to say under what charter the Republicans—being in a large minority in the City—can get so much of patronage and power as under the system of cumulative voting, which the proposed charter establishes. The truth is that when these modest patriots talk of the interests of the Republican Party they mean the interests of their own sweet selves. Of course GEO. H. VAN CLEFT, the City Surveyor, to whom TWEED gave so many profitable jobs, and "JIM" MCLAREN, who boldly denied that he held a position as Inspector of Oils till we proved it on him by the official pay-rolls; and HENRY A BARNUM, Deputy Tax Commissioner; and JAMES L. HASTIE, printer to the Board of Health, and man of all work to MANIERRE and GRIDLEY; and "Mikey" FARRELL, attorney to the Department of Buildings; and MARK LANAGAN, and E. L. BULLOCK, and "Bill" HEPBURN, and "Bill" ASHMAN, and "Jo." FORBES, and the score of others who now feed at the public crib, were loud in chorus, in season and out of season, before drinks and during drinks and after drinks, at the outrage upon their vested rights, involved in the passage of the charter. Commissioner of Public Works VAN NORT dispensed his hospitality and his appointments—some of them, it is said, in blank—in a manner to convince the doubting of the absolute necessity of having a "Republican charter," though he had assured the Committee of Seventy that if they would so amend their charter as to leave him in office, the change would make it a strictly genuine Republican instrument. Along with him came THOMAS E. STEWART and CHARLES P. SHAW, the former so fresh from his membership of the Democratic State Committee that his anxiety for the interests of the Republican Party was especially affecting, an anxiety by the way which received its highest illustration when it was proposed to the Committee of Seventy to strike from their charter everything relating to docks, and to adopt STEWART'S grand commercial commission as a means of securing the support of STEWART, TWOMBLY, SHAW and Company.

Alongside of the patriots we have named, were HENRY L. CLINTON, FRANK SPINOLA and others, who were greatly alarmed lest the system of cumulative voting should turn out the honest men in the present Board of Aldermen, and fill the places of COMAN and PLUNKETT, JOYCE and MEHRBACH with thieves. Acting in concert with all these was the owlish wisdom of BEN. FIELD, trying to make it out that in some unknown way the Committee of Seventy had become a body of Conkling conspirators, determined to seal the fate of FENTON and GREELEY, by means of their terrible charter. FIELD sought thus to lug into the contest an element which has nothing to do with it, for the real and only question is, Does the proposed charter establish a form of government which promises to work fairly and equitably, to give to all classes a voice in our Municipal Government, and to protect us from the evils under which we have suffered? This is all that we have a right to ask. The Legislature being strongly Republican may, however, fairly consider whether, in carrying out their measures of reform, justice is done to the Republican minority in this City, which constituted the larger portion of the reform element last Fall; but they have no right to sacrifice the principles of good government and reform to a desire to promote mere party success. That the proposed charter by its system of cumulative voting secures to the Republican Party more of power than a minority can hope to obtain under any other system, we have already intimated. Even if it did not do this it seems to us clear that the true interest of the Republican Party is to be found in adhering to the reform element which gave us so many votes last Fall for our State ticket and in which lies our chief hope of gaining any strength from the Democratic Party. In the apparent fact that the so-called Conkling faction see this more clearly than the Fenton men is found the only pretence for the charge that the charter has anything to do with the divisions in the Republican Party. It will in no sense concern them unless one section chooses to oppose it.

The Charter received on Friday 57 votes. It needs 65 to pass it, and we feel confident it will obtain that number and more. The 57 votes were the following, the five Democrats being in italics. We believe but a single one of the fifty-two Republicans—Mr. STRAHAN, of Orange—is claimed as likely to be found voting against the charter on its final passage. Certainly, any Republican who changes his vote will subject himself to grave suspicions:

Alberger, of Erie; Badeau of Westchester; Bolts, of Erie; Beckwith, of Oneida; Berri, of Kings; E. E. Brown, of Cayuga; I. D. Brown, of Cayuga; Burritt, of Monroe; Crandall, of Allegany; Davidson, of Wyoming; Eastman, of Dutchess; Enos, of Jefferson; Flammer, of New-York; Fort, of Oswego; Geib, of New-York; Goss, of Monroe; Green, of Oswego; Gregory, of Schuyler; Haight, of New-York; Hawkins, of New-York; Hill, of Chemung; Hyatt, of Madison; Jacobs, of Kings; Judd, of Richmond; Kennedy, of Livingston; Kingsland, of Clinton; Knapp, of Genesee; Lincoln, of Ontario; Lippitt, of Madison; Lord, of Yates; Lott, of Seneca; Lynde, of St. Lawrence; Mackay, of New-York; Morton, of Kings; Moulton, of New-York; Murdock, of Steuben; Niles, of Westchester; Oakley, of Queens; Osgood, of Rensselaer; Paige, of New-York; Pell, of New-York; Pierce, of Franklin; Preston, of Chautauqua; Prince, of Queens; Rice, of Herkimer; Rose, of St. Lawrence; Shepardson, of Chenango; Simson, of Erie; Smiley, of Lewis; Smyth, of Tioga; Smith, of Albany; Springsted, of Albany; Squires, of Cortland; Strahan, of Orange; Swain, of Niagara; Van Dusen, of Ontario; Woodward, of Warren.

The following fifty-three members voted against ordering the charter to a third reading. Of these, four or five avowed before they left the Assembly, on Friday, that they should vote for the bill on its final passage. We shall be greatly astonished if Mr. TILDEN'S name is not found recorded on that side, and if a week's association with their constituents does not change still others:

Abbott, of Orange; Aitken, of Kings; Alvord, of Onondaga; Bemus, of Chautauqua; Bennets, of Kings; Blair, of New-York; Buckley, of Sullivan; Buell, of Fulton; Burns, of Onondaga; Campbell, of New-York; Carroll, of Oneida; Chamberlain, of Otsego; Chambers, of Erie; Cook, of New-York; Couchman, of Schoharie; Dunphy, of New-York; Fields, of New-York; Foley, of New-York; Fowler, of Steuben; Frear, of New-York; Goring, of Dutchess; Hart, of Orleans; Houghton, of New-York; Hayes, of Oneida; Hayes, of New-York; Healy, of New-York; Herrick, of Rensselaer; Hill, of Greene; Holdridge, of Cattaraugus; Hollister, of Washington; Houghton, of Saratoga; Hungerford, of Oneida; Husted, of Westchester; Lord, of Monroe; Loughran, of Ulster; Moore, of St. Lawrence; Moseley, of Kings; Mosher, of Albany; Ray, of Columbia; Reese, of Kings; Sage, of Oswego; Smith, of Washington; Sniper, of Onondaga; Snyder, of Rensselaer; Tilden, of New-York; Tucker, of Otsego; Twombly, of New-York; Van Dusen, of Montgomery; Vedder, of Cattaraugus; West, of Saratoga; Witbeck, of New-York; Whitaker, of Ulster; Woolsey, of Ulster; Wiley, of Erie.

There were absent the following Republicans:

D. L. Babcock, of Albany; J. H. Babcock, of Niagara; Dykeman, of Putnam; Greenhalgh, of Schenectady; Griffin, of Delaware; Knettles, of Tompkins; Lewis, of Delaware; Marcy, of Suffolk; Peck, of Kings; Tobey, of Essex; Tompkins, of Rockland; Wells, of Wayne; White, of Kings; Wyman, of Jefferson; and Yeomans, of Wayne.

Not less than six of these had given assurances that they would vote in favor of the charter, while others—like TOMKINS, of Rockland—were so immediately the products of the Reform movement that they can hardly do otherwise. One or two of the absentees—like KNETTLES, of Tompkins—are reported to have dodged the vote. While we believe the charter will pass the Assembly triumphantly, we trust no effort will be omitted to secure that result; for its opponents are industrious, and will use all kinds of efforts and arguments to defeat it.

Controller Green and City Pay-Rolls.

In certain disreputable quarters, an attempt is being made to cast odium upon Controller GREEN, on the ground that he has unduly delayed payment of the claims of various classes of City employes. The fact is, that but for the personal credit of Mr. GREEN, the laboring men would have had very much longer to wait for the payment of the money of which the Ring robbed them. Since the 1st of January, the Controller has been unable to meet claims for salaries, without the authority of the Legislature. This has been but recently obtained, yet there are, at this moment, comparatively few claims for services actually rendered to the City which remain unpaid. On application at the Department of Finance, we find that between Sept. 16, 1871, and Feb. 19, 1872, Controller GREEN has paid the following sums for wages:

For wages of laborers and employes Department of Public Works	$534,790 57
For wages of laborers and employes Fire Department	294,367 74
For wages of laborers and employes Department of Public Parks	1,538,923 07
For pay of teachers and employes Department of Public Instruction	959,838 46
For pay of Police force, Department of Police	1,063,016 17
For pay of employes Department of Public Charities and Correction	34,404 83
For pay of employes Health Department	18,341 89
For pay of employes Mayor's Office	3,999 93
For pay of employes Legislation Department	12,499 88
For pay of employes Department of Finance	21,799 46
For pay of employes Department of Buildings	10,774 56
For pay of employes Law Department	4,000 00
For pay of employes Board of Assessors	2,333 33
For pay of employes Collectors of Assessments	13,127 47
For use of Department of Docks	500,000 00
Total	$5,002,217 29

THE BROOKLYN FIFTY.

Report of the Excise Investigating Committee—Proposed Indictment of the Commissioners.

At a secret meeting of the Brooklyn Reform Committee of Fifty, held on Saturday evening last, the Subcommittee appointed to examine into the affairs of the Excise Board made their report, of which the following is a summary:

The examination "shows a discrepancy, on general average, of cash credits carried forward from the record book of only $7, which occurred under rebates on original metropolitan licenses unexpired." During the first business year of the Board, from May 11, 1870, to April 19, 1871, there were issued 2,651 licenses. The index shows 2,677 names. This discrepancy is explained by finding that twenty-six names of licenses were registered twice. From April 19, 1871, to Jan. 1, 1872, there were issued 2,518 licenses, while the index records 2,571 names. Of these fifty-eight were licenses transferred, leaving the index book five names short of the number upon the record book. Cause—neglect in indexing.

After giving a summary of the year's business the Committee say:

In conclusion, the matters most deserving the attention of your Committee in connection with the Board of Excise are:

1. The apparent illegal withdrawal of $2,000 from the funds of the Board, by RODNEY THURSBY, one of the Commissioners, the laws bearing on which have been heretofore related.

2. The apparent illegal counsel fees paid to JOHN C. JACOBS.

3. The large balances withheld from the City Treasury, for which it is intended by the law that full monthly returns should be rendered, and which balances we state as follows:

1870—May		$45,529 97
June, after payment of $50,000 to City Treasury		34,177 53
July		43,711 56
August		44,607 86
September		44,165 09
October		44,541 85
November		44,141 66
December		46,513 66
1871—January		47,582 34
February		48,513 77
March		51,473 27
April		53,418 62
May, after payment of $35,000 into City Treasury		48,311 97
June		81,925 15
July		97,281 83
August		105,076 83
September		110,351 29
October, after payment of $50,000 into City Treasury		64,800 53
November		66,562 02
December		66,948 56

And on Jan. 2, 1872, they paid to the City Treasury the sum of $25,000, retaining a balance of $41,948 56, which is still withheld. These balances average the sum of $68,301 79 withheld, for a period of twenty months, by the Commissioners of Excise, the interest on which, at seven per cent. per annum, would amount to $6,793 73.

4. The system of trans ferring licenses, for which we can find no authority in the statute, and by which the city is defrauded to the extent of the amounts which would be paid for new licenses were this system abolished.

5. The assumption of the right by the Commissioners of Excise to make such changes and alterations in their printed rates of license fees, as in their judgment they may deem expedient and necessary, in particular cases, which has been noticed at length on a previous page of this report.

Signed,
THOMAS N. ROOKER, Chairman.
WM. A. COIT, Secretary.
BROOKLYN, Feb. 14, 1872.

After the reading of the report, a resolution was unanimously adopted providing that the papers relating to the Excise Board be handed to the District-Attorney for the purpose of prosecuting the Commissioners for defalcation in office.

Removing the "Whitewash."

Yesterday WM. A. FOWLER, President of the Water Board, received a communication from Mr. JULIAN ALLEN, of the Committee of Fifty, stating that a new subcommittee had been appointed to investigate the affairs of the Water and Sewerage Department, and asking him to allow a clerk, appointed by the Council of Vigilance, to make a full list of the employes in the Department. The Subcommittee consisted of Messrs. Julian Allen, H. B. Chittenden, Morris Reynolds, J. C. Smith, A. F. Goodnow, N. Cothren, J. S. Roberts, J. E. Conmeyer, W. Hepburn, and Gideon Frost.

Mr. FOWLER, it is said, has positively refused to submit to another investigation, for the simple reason that the Council of Vigilance refused to give to the public the report made by the first subcommittee appointed to investigate the affairs of the Department.

The Metropolitan Gas Company.

The recent onslaught of the TIMES upon the gas companies of this City, has been attended with gratifying results. Citizens whose gas is supplied by the Metropolitan Company state that they find a marked improvement in the quality of their gas, and have within the last few days received communications from the Company informing them that their charges will be hereafter reduced to thirty-five or thirty-seven cents on every hundred feet.

AMUSEMENTS.

Dramatic.

BOOTH'S THEATRE—JULIUS CÆSAR.

A change of noteworthy interest took place last night at Booth's Theatre in the cast of "Julius Cæsar." Mr. LAWRENCH BARRETT having retired, Mr. JUNIUS BRUTUS BOOTH, elder brother of Mr. EDWIN BOOTH, came on from Boston and assumed the character of Cassius. Mr. J. B. BOOTH needs no introduction to the New-York public, either as actor or manager. His merits in either capacity are well known, and his greeting last night at the hands of the audience was that which is accorded to an old friend. His performance of Cassius is dignified, chaste, and full of carefully-digested meaning. The fruits of long experience and hard study are availed of by him in the part with much force and address; and, whatever may be said of his reading of Cassius in the declamatory sense, Mr. BOOTH'S bearing and gesture are finer than those of any actor who has appeared or who now appears here in "Julius Cæsar." He is more like a man of classic antiquity, more like a Roman, than any of his companions, not excepting his brother, and this is a matter that deserves to be noted and commended. Mr. BOOTH was often heartily applauded last night, and his reception and performance were altogether such as to warrant congratulation. We are glad to observe in Mr. EDWIN BOOTH'S embodiment of Brutus some decided improvements on his first performance of the part. He has ripened in it to good purpose, and although Brutus will probably never rank among his best efforts, it is now certainly too good to be placed among his worst. Mr. BANGS' Mark Antony is also better than before, and but for a hoarseness that apparently threatens to become chronic, would leave little to desire. It is gratifying to see that Mr. BOOTH'S creditable efforts to place SHAKESPEARE on the New-York stage as he has never been placed before are so warmly appreciated by the public. The ninth week of "Julius Cæsar" began last night, and the houses are undiminished in number and intelligence. This is the kind of encouragement that assures good work for the future, and it is well for the Metropolis that she has the taste and liberality to recognize and reward managerial taste and energy such as hitherto, in this field, have had scarcely any precedents.

FRENCH PLAYS.

We are pleased to hear that M. PAUL JUIGNET and the artists who assisted him in Thursday week's performance at Robinson Hall, in Sixteenth-street, will take part in a second representation of French plays, at the same place, on Thursday next. The company will repeat COPPEE'S "Fais ce que dois," but two new pieces will be acted instead of those already given. "Roch et Luc," a one act vaudeville, and "Un Service à Blanchard," are the titles of the works in question. The excellence of these entertainments, aside from the fact that their success may lead to the resumption of the regular performances now so much missed, commend them eloquently to the encouragement of enlightened patrons of the drama.

Musical.

GERMAN OPERA.

The first performance of the season of German opera at the Grand Opera-house attracted, last evening, an audience that crowded the house in every part. NICOLAI'S "Merry Wives of Windsor," which has already been given at the Stadt Theatre by the artists who took part in its recital yesterday, was interpreted. The rehearsal was most successful. Mme. FABBRI was complimented with many superb bouquets; Herr MULLER and CARL FORMES elicited a great demonstration of delight in the comic duet in the second act; Miss CLARA PERL was greeted with much warmth; and, in brief, the impression of the earliest representation of the series was decisively favorable. To-night, MARSCHNER'S "Templar and Jewess" will be represented, and its rendering, as well as that of each of the operas to follow, is likely to be quite as numerously attended and quite as much enjoyed as that of the work selected for the opening of the season.

LAST NIGHT'S CONCERT.

The Charity Concert given last evening, under the auspices of the ladies of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, for the benefit of the Zenana Schools in India, was very numerously attended. Several of its incidents deserve a complimentary mention. Miss KELLOGG'S appearances in public, this season, have been so few and far between that her co-operation in a concert is become a bonne fortune, sufficient to illustrate any entertainment. She was in excellent voice yesterday, and her singing was marked by greater expressiveness than usual, and by the brilliancy and finish to which audiences have long since been accustomed. Miss KELLOGG sang "O Luce di quest' Anima," and CLAY'S ballad, "I Wandered Down the Mountain Side," encores following both performances. She also took part in ROSSINI'S "Quis est Homo" with Mlle. MORENSI. The reappearance of this lady was another feature, so to speak, of the concert. Mlle. MORENSI will be remembered by most frequenters of the Academy six or seven years ago. Her services have lately been enlisted in Havana, where she sang last Winter with great success. Mlle. MORENSI was very cordially received, and the suppleness and power of her voice, which she used in the trying scena and cavatina "Ah quel giorno," from "Semiramide," with particular skill and effect, elicited evidences of hearty admiration. We should be very glad to learn that Mlle. MORENSI has been engaged for one of the series of opera nights soon to be commenced. Her commanding stage presence, and her resources and experience would not, we are sure, be overlooked. In last night's affair, besides the above-named contributions to the bill, some vocal pieces were interpreted by Mrs. P. D. GULAGER, Mr. W. S. LEGGATT and Mr. REMMERTZ, and Mr. BERTI played two compositions for the piano. Harsh criticism bearing upon an entertainment arranged with charitable intent would be unjustifiable, but the result of Mr. REMMERTZ'S choice of ROSSINI'S "Deh ti ferma" would almost warrant it, if Mr. LEGGATT'S libertie with the last bars of GOUNOD'S "Salve dimora," and the sopranino-like swaying of his body to the music, did not.

MR. HILL'S CONCERT.

Mr. W. J. HILL'S concert occurs this evening at Steinway Hall. The programme is a good one. Among its interpreters will be Señor SARASATE, Mr. J. N. PATTISON, and Miss ANTOINETTE STERLING.

COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION.

Meeting Yesterday of the Legislative Committee in Secret Session—Its Future Plans—One of the Institutions to be Investigated—The Seamen's Retreat.

The Legislative Committee on Commerce and Navigation, which was instructed to inquire during the recess into the conduct of the Health Officer of the Port of New-York, the Quarantine Commission, the Emigrant Commission, and the Seaman's Retreat, met and organized yesterday morning at the St. Nicholas Hotel. There were present Messrs. ALBERGER, JUDD, GEIB, CAMPBELL, LORD and BENNETT. Messrs. SNYDER and BABCOCK are temporarily absent, and Mr. GREEN is not expected to join the Committee during its investigations. The session yesterday was a secret one, and was devoted to hearing Messrs. MOSES H. GRINNELL, ROBERT B. MINTURN, MOSES TAYLOR, and other leading merchants and ship-owners on the subject of abuses in the Quarantine, and was designed to elicit information by which the future course of the Committee might be shaped. It was thought that this information would be given with greater freedom if it were understood that it should not be given to the public.

The Committee will meet again this morning, when the session will probably be open to the public. Three of the Committee will be assigned to the investigation of the Commission of Emigration; the remainder will to-morrow meet at Deidrich's Hotel, Quarantine, Staten Island, to take testimony. Any complaints from residents of Staten Island will be listened to there.

THE SEAMAN'S RETREAT.

The affairs of the Seaman's Retreat, on Staten Island, will be investigated in the latter part of the week. This institution, though comparatively unknown to the great body of our citizens, possesses features of considerable interest to all connected with shipping interests. The Seaman's Retreat is devoted exclusively to the treatment of sick and disabled sailors arriving in this port, and is open to all except those suffering from contagious or infectious diseases. It is supported by a tax upon all vessels entering the port. It is situated near Stapleton, Long Island. The inclosed land of the institution, consisting of about forty acres, was purchased in June, 1801, and in October of the same year the first patients were admitted. The Retreat is governed by a Board of officers, a part of whom consist of ex-officers of vessels, and a part are appointed by the Governor of the State. The first meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Seaman's Fund and Retreat was held in the Mayor's office in this City on the 9th of MAY, 1831. The Board then consisted of the following gentlemen:

Hon. Walter Bowne, Mayor, Chairman; Capt. John Whelton, President of Marine Society; Capt. Asa Thompson, President of Nautical Society; Major Taylor, Esq., President of Seamen's Savings Bank; Dr. John S. Westervelt, Health Officer; Capt. James Magan, James Webb, Reuben Manly, G. R. Skiddy, and Henry Russel.

On the 4th of July, 1834, the corner-stone of a new and capacious building was laid, the former accommodations having been found inadequate to the demand. On this occasion prayer was offered by Rev. HENRY CHASE, pastor of Mariner's Church, New-York. The stone was laid by SAMUEL SWARTOUT, Esq., Collector of the Port, and then President of the Board of Trustees, assisted by the builder, Mr. S. S. MAYHEW.

The present building is of granite, is 300 feet long by 40 feet wide, and is three and a half stories high, with basement story. It contains all the conveniences, which, in the language of advertising landlords, are known as "modern improvements"—gas, furnaces, hot and cold water and bath tubs, in every story, &c. It has a chapel, capable of seating 100 persons, and a good library. A cemetery is situated on a knoll at the western end of the grounds, where many a poor sailor has found a last resting place near the element which had been his home.

OUR LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

Proceedings of the Board of Aldermen—The Extension of Lafayette-Place—A Motion to Annul the Resolution—The County Leases.

The Board of Aldermen met yesterday, President COCHRANE in the chair, and all the members present. Mr. RADDE presented a remonstrance, signed by a large number of property-holders, against the extension of Lafayette-place, from Great Jones-street to Bleecker-street.

Mr. VAN SCHAICK presented a resolution, that the Clerk of the Board inquire into and report the number of Commissioners of Deeds appointed by the old Board, and the names of those who have failed to qualify up to date, which, after some debate, was adopted.

Mr. RADDE offered a resolution calling for information in regard to the filthy condition of the streets and sewers. That portion of the resolution relating to streets was referred to the Board of Health; that relating to sewers was referred to the Commissioner of Public Works.

The following preamble and resolution, presented by Mr. JOYCE, was referred to the Committee on Roads:

Whereas, A bill is now pending before the Legislature of the State, which by its provisions is intended to afford immediate relief to a very large, poor and deserving class of people, entitled "An Act for the relief of contractors in the City of New-York," and by its passage the Legislature will at once enable the contractors to resume work on the several contracts lately suspended, which deprived large numbers of laborers of employment; be it therefore

Resolved, That the Common Council does hereby respectfully, yet earnestly, ask the Legislature to pass the bill in question at as early a day as possible, and we also hereby earnestly represent the representatives of the City in the Legislature of this State, now in session, to use every honorable means in their power to effect the passage of said act at the earliest possible period.

Mr. VAN SCHAICK, from the Committee on Streets, presented a report, concluding with a resolution that the resolution adopted by the Common Council, Oct. 11, 1869, for the extension of Lafayette-place (as above designated) be repealed. Mr. VAN SCHAICK said the extension would cost the City $1,000,000, and that it was strongly opposed by property-owners who would be effected by it.

After a long discussion on what disposition should be made of the report and resolution, the whole matter was made the special order for to-morrow at 3 o'clock, to which time the Board subsequently adjourned.

The following resolution, offered by Mr. VAN SCHAICK, was referred to the Committee on the Law Department:

Resolved, That the Counsel to the Corporation be, and he is hereby, directed to commence, such proceedings as he may deem proper to recover from the grantor or lessee of all property granted or leased by the City of New-York, without good, legal and adequate considerations or mere nominal rentals.

A number of petitions for paving, grading and regulating streets, for Corporation printing, and for renumbering some streets, were received and appropriately referred, as were also several resolutions to appoint certain persons Commissioners of Deeds.

The Assistant Aldermen—The Public Printing and the Expenses of the Board.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen also met yesterday, President HALL in the chair. Several resolutions to appoint Commissioners of Deeds were referred. A petition was referred to pave with Belgium pavement One Hundred and Twelfth-street, from Second to Third-avenue. A resolution was laid over to designate printers to the Corporation instead of the New-York Printing Company.

The resolution cutting down the number of clerks of this Board from twenty-one to nine, was called up and considerable debate ensued, when finally the amendment was moved and lost, that the expenses of the clerk's office of the Board of Assistant Aldermen shall be reduced to $8,000, to be expended as follows: For clerk's salary, $3,000; deputy-clerk's salary, $2,500; assistant clerk's salary, $1,500; messenger's salary, $1,000. And that the further sum of $2,000 should be paid as follows: For sergeant-at-arms, $1,000; doorkeeper, $500; two messengers, $500.

Mr. GEIS offered a resolution that the Commissioners of Public Works and Parks be directed to report to the Board the number of laborers employed by their Departments.

The resolution to abolish the following officers was lost: First, second, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth assistant clerks, assistant messengers, messenger to the President, and assistant sergeant-at-arms. The Board then adjourned.

Doings of the Supervisors—A Movement to Cut Down the Expenses of the Board—A Statement from the Clerk.

A meeting of the Board of Supervisors was held yesterday afternoon, all the members present except Recorder HACKETT. The Mayor presided. Several bills against the County were received. Among them was one for $11,000 for boiler furnished the County Jail. A communication was received from Controller GREEN, accompanied by a statement regarding the leases held by the County. The statement, without being read, was ordered to be received and printed.

The Clerk of the Board, Mr. J. B. YOUNG, submitted the following statement, called for by Supervisor VAN SCHAICK at the last meeting, in regard to the number, names and salaries of the employes of the Board:

Name.	Position.	Compensation per annum.
James B. Young	Clerk	$6,000
Thomas Dunphy	Deputy Clerk	4,000
Arch. J. Fullerton	Deputy Clerk	4,800
James McGowan	Sergeant-at-Arms	3,000
J. William McGowan	Acting Messenger	1,500
James C. King	Watchman	1,500
Timothy G. Sullivan	Watchman	1,200
James Haskell	Assistant Janitor New Court-house	1,500
Thomas Dempsey	Keeper Brown-stone Building	1,000
Timothy Dorsey	Ass't Keeper Brown-stone Building	1,000
James Casey	Watchman Hall Records	1,200
W. J. O'Connor	Watchman Hall Records	1,500
Sarah Heron, cleaning rooms of Supervisors, $2 per day.
Hannah T. Murphy, cleaning rooms of Supervisors, $2 per day.
Johanna Good, cleaning rooms of Supervisors, $2 per day.

The other cleaners, about forty, although appointed at various times by the Board of Supervisors, perform duties in the different Court-rooms and offices, and at the same rate of compensation.

It was referred to the Committee on Salaries and Offices, and a resolution to pay some of the cleaners was referred.

GEORGE ROSE sent in a bill for damages, amounting to $154 72, done to premises No. 261 Eighth-avenue during the 12th of July riot last year. It was referred to the Committee on Finance.

The Board then adjourned until the first Monday in March.

The Kooka Executions.

The London Times publishes the following telegram from its correspondent at Calcutta, dated Feb. 3:

"Further information has been received which shows who is responsible for the Kooka executions. After the complete suppression of the mutiny, Deputy Commissioner COWAN selected fifty men to be shot. Upon the scene of execution one broke away and ran at Mr. COWAN, and was cut down. The others were blown from guns on Deputy Commissioner COWAN'S own responsibility. Mr. FORSYTH, the Commissioner at Umballa, executed sixteen more. The whole band, which never numbered 300, has been literally hunted down; sixty-six men and two women, terrified, half-famished, and twenty-nine of them wounded, submitted in the end to four men. The whole transaction occurred within forty-eight hours, and in the neighborhood of our fine force of 15,000 men of all arms at Delhi camp. The Government ordered an immediate inquiry. The public feeling, which at first was hesitating, is partially turning against the executions."

THE RAPID TRANSIT QUESTION.

An Act to Incorporate the "Rapid Transit Railway of the City of New-York."

The first section of this act provides that William F. Havemeyer, Myer Stern, Benj. F. Beekman, William A. Booth, Jonathan Sturges, Peter Gilsey, John Foley, Randolph W. Townsend and John T. Daley be constituted a Board of Commissioners of City Railways, with power to construct and operate railways for rapid transit in the City of New-York. The railways authorized to be constructed by the act shall extend from the Battery to such point in Forty-second-street, between the Third and Eighth-avenues, and thence to the Harlem River, as the Commissioners shall determine, the number of tracks and width of gauge to be determined upon by the Commissioners.

All alterations necessitated in the sewers, parks, streets, gas and water pipes by the construction of the railway, shall be made at the expense of the construction fund.

The Commissioners are empowered to construct and operate the railway, either as a tunnel through its entire length or as part tunnel, or upon any other plan which may be adopted by them as being the plan best adapted for the public wants.

The fifth section authorizes them to make all necessary temporary alterations in streets, &c., along the line of route, and to open and take part of way as against all railway companies in the City of New-York in all things necessary for the construction of the railway. The Commissioners may make all proper surveys, and enter on all lands for that purpose; and when the route of the road has been decided on, they are to file certified copies of maps of the road in the offices of the Register of Deeds and Commissioner of Public Works of the City—the maps to show the plan, width, elevation, &c., of the road, and the land occupied by it, as so designated, shall then be declared a public highway. The Commissioners are to meet in New-York within thirty days after the passage of the act and elect a President and other proper officers. The President shall be paid an annual salary equal to that now paid to the Commissioner of Public Works. The remaining Commissioners shall serve without compensation.

The Commissioners are authorized to sit as a Board of Commissioners to receive subscriptions for the building of the road, for the space of sixty days from the passage of the act; and in case they shall secure such subscriptions, in their opinion, to guarantee the construction of this railway, they are constituted a Board of Directors for the space of one year from the passage of the act.

At the expiration of the time for receiving subscriptions, the subscribers shall have the right to construct and operate the railway as authorized by the act, and furnish the same accommodations at a price which shall not exceed for each adult passenger the sum of ten cents for any distance less than five miles, and two cents per mile for each additional mile, or parts thereof. Upon the completion of the railway the subscribers shall be vested with the full and exclusive title and interest therein, and the franchises thereof for the space of fifty years from the date of the passage of the act. In case the sinking fund shall exceed ten per cent. per annum of the principal of the construction fund, the Commissioners shall, from time to time, reduce the rate of fare until it reaches the uniform rate of two cents for each passenger over the whole or any part of said railway.

In case the Commissioners shall not secure sufficient funds to construct the road, then the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City are empowered to issue a public stock or fund to be called "The Rapid Transit Railway Fund," the whole amount not to exceed $5,000,000, the interest upon which, to be paid by the City of New-York, shall not exceed the sum of $350,000 per annum; said stock shall bear interest not exceeding seven per cent.

No Commissioner of the Board shall be directly or indirectly interested in any contract on said road, and in case any Commissioner shall become so interested, he shall immediately thereby forfeit and lose his seat in said Board.

The thirteenth section provides for the establishment of regulations for the running of the road, freight, fares, accommodations, &c., and for the appointment of a General Superintendent by the Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to keep the books of the road, and books to be open to the inspection of all proper persons applying for the same. After the completion of the railway, upon the first Monday of every month, the Commissioners shall file in the office of the Controller of the City a verified statement, setting forth in detail the total receipts and expenses of the road for the month previous. It is also required that the statements shall show all the liabilities incurred, and the surplus remaining on hand, which surplus shall be paid over to the Controller to be applied to the payment of interest, as it matures, on construction fund or bonds, and on the redemption of the principal at maturity.

The Commissioners shall, in the month of January in each year, make to the Common Council of the City a full report and detailed statement of all receipts and expenditures. The provisions of the act of April 17, 1857, relating to the government of the Central Park of the City of New-York shall apply to the railway.

PURIFYING THE BENCH.

The Investigation Commenced by the Judiciary Committee—The Charges Submitted by the Bar Association.

However much the adherents of the Ring felt inclined to ridicule the threatened investigation into the manner of administering justice in New-York, the opening session of the Investigating Committee has at last been held, and commenced with an earnestness that betokens little mercy for any in case such charges are sufficiently well established to warrant impeachment.

The Judiciary Committee met at the Fifth-avenue Hotel at 4 o'clock P. M. yesterday, but for at least an hour before the opening of the first session, a score of lobbyists, politicians and lawyers, had assembled in the hall of the hotel, and these discussed with much energy the probable issue of the pending investigation. The Committee sat in secret session, and the remaining proceedings will be made public only as the Committee may see fit to order. It was thought that yesterday afternoon nothing would be done save the arrangement of the preliminaries, but it will be seen that the business done was of some importance. Of the Committee there were present Messrs. Prince, Niles, Flammer, Strahan, Tobey, Vedder, Hill, and Tilden. At 4½ o'clock Messrs. JOSHUA M. VAN COTT, JOHN E. PARSONS, and ALBERT STICKNEY, forming a Committee from the Bar Association, went before the Committee and presented first their general charges and then the specifications, against Judges CARDOZO and BARNARD. The reading of these and their subsequent discussion by the Committee occupied the time until 6½ o'clock. A resolution was then passed which is as follows in substance:

That at present each of the Judges, accompanied by not more than two counsel, may be present during the sessions of the Committee as their respective cases may be taken up, and they shall be permitted to make such suggestions and ask such questions as may be allowed by the Committee. The Bar Association shall be represented by three counsel, but counsel on either side shall not be permitted to raise objections or make arguments as to the admissibility of evidence.

It was also decided that all the proceedings of the Committee should be done in secret session, and that the Judges should be at once notified of the charges against them. In anticipation of the action of the Bar Association, both Judges BARNARD and CARDOZO had their legal representatives at the hotel ready to answer the call of the Committee. RUFUS ANDREWS and E. L. FANCHER represented Judge BARNARD, and E. H. OWEN and Ex-Judge Fullerton represented Judge CARDOZO. None of these gentlemen were allowed before the Committee, but after the adjournment they were recognized by Mr. PRINCE and verbally notified on behalf of their clients that charges had been made and that the defendants would be heard before the Committee. This morning formal written notices will be served upon both BARNARD and CARDOZO, and the charges against the latter will be heard this afternoon. It is the intention of the Committee after today to commence their sessions at 9 o'clock in the morning, and hold them, if necessary, late into each night, in order that their labors may be finished in such time as will admit of their returning to Albany to take part in the discussion of the new charter. The members also proclaim their intention to investigate the matters before them thoroughly, and to act throughout with the utmost fairness.

A Card from Judge McCunn.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

A malicious and wicked slander has crept in among your news items, this morning, in regard to myself, every word of which is without the slightest shadow of foundation. I was young, years ago, when I was elevated to the high position I have the honor to hold, and I have endeavored in every possible way, both as a lawyer and as a man, to reflect credit on my high office. This I have endeavored to do for two reasons: First, as an example to my young countrymen coming here, and next to have the good-will of those among whom I reside, and for the sake of my own dear ones I may leave behind. I know well that I may not be free from bias, however unpartisan I may conduct myself, but my purity of purpose has never been questioned. I now repeat that every single word of the slander in your columns of this morning in regard to me, is wickedly false in the extreme. Such slanders cannot avail the poor, worthless creature who is their author, unless it can satisfy his depraved appetite for low billingsgate. Such vile craving only recoils on the author. May I politely ask you to contradict them as you see fit, and oblige, yours, truly,

J. H. MCCUNN.

Savings Bank Policies—Life Insurance as it Should Be.

The Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company will shortly be ready to issue policies on approved lives, payable to the party himself when he reaches a certain age, which is never to exceed seventy-five, or to his representative on his previous death; with certain important benefits never before conceded by any Company.

1. The policy will contain a positive stipulation of an equitable and definite surrender value, which may be withdrawn in CASH at the end of any policy year, or it may remain with the Company, drawing an annual interest of never less than four per cent., and as much more than five per cent., for a complete year, as the average interest of the Company's investments in its preceding fiscal year has exceeded 6 per cent.

2. To every such policy will be attached a table analyzing the premium per $1,000 insured by it into three distinct parts for each year of its possible existence: First, the margin provided for expenses and to meet possible death-claims in excess of those expected; second, the advance normal rate of the insurance to be done by the Company, in each year, or what the policy will have to contribute in advance to meet the normal yearly death-claims on other policies; third, the Self-insurance deposit, or reserve, which is to be accumulated at four per cent., and is applicable only to the claim on the policy itself, whenever that occurs.

Besides these particulars, the table will give, first,

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

No business was transacted at the Exchange yesterday, Feb. 19, although two legal sales were expected to take place, namely, of lots on Fortieth-street, near Sixth-avenue, and of a house and lot on the north-west corner of Third-avenue and One Hundred and Third-street. The suit involving the title to the first-named property has, however, been settled, and the second sale was adjourned by JAMES M. MILLER, the auctioneer, until the 29th inst. To-day, at the Exchange, the market should be active, as a number of important transactions are announced by various auctioneers, and to which special reference was made yesterday. Particular attention is however called to the sale of Bowery and Chrystie-street improved real estate by JAMES M. MILLER, and to the sales of the Theatre Comique and Stadt Theatre, by E. H. LUDLOW & CO., and by JOSEPH MCGUIRE, respectively.

TRANSFERS AND LEASES.

The following is a list of transfers of City real estate to the value of $25,000 and over, placed on record last week, as taken from the Real Estate Record of Saturday, Feb. 17. The list of recorded leases for the week will also be found appended:

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE RECeived by the undersigned, the Mayor of the City of St. Louis, at his office, City Hall, until 12 o'clock noon, of the 20th day of March proximo, for the purchase of issued by authority of an act "To authorize the City of St. Louis to issue and dispose of additional bonds to enable it to extend and protect its Water-works," approved Feb. 2, 1872.
These bonds are for $1,000 each, to be dated April 1, 1872, having twenty years to run with interest at the rate of six per cent. payable semi-annually on the 1st day of April and October respectively, in gold coin of the United States, in the City of New-York, where the principal is also made payable in gold coin.
The water revenues derived from the Water-works is pledged by law for the redemption of the bonds now offered, both principal and interest, in the same manner as the bonds heretofore issued under the acts approved March 13, 1867, and March 25, 1870.
Bids will be received for any number of the bonds in sums of $5,000 and upward, and the proposals will be publicly opened in the office of the Mayor, on the day and time named.
The Mayor reserves the right to reject any or all bids, if in his opinion, the bids received be not satisfactory.
Proposals must be indorsed "Proposals for St. Louis Water Bonds," and addressed to the Mayor.
The law authorizing the issue of the bonds, can be seen on application at the Mayor's office.
Bids must be made payable in the issue of the National Banks, or the currency of the United States.
The bonds will be delivered in the City of St. Louis to the purchasers, whose bids are accepted, upon the 1st day of April, 1872, or be paid for when delivered.
Bids must be accompanied by a deposit in money or certified bank checks, will be required to accompany each bid, to insure compliance with the same.
By order of the Board.

THE MOST DESIRABLE
NEW-YORK SECURITY
ON THE MARKET.
MIDLAND FIRST MORTGAGE
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds.
Denominations of $100, $500, $1,000.
AT PAR AND INTEREST.
Of this great trunk line to the West upward of 340 Miles Are in Operation,
and its ENTIRE COMPLETION CONTRACTED FOR BY JULY 1. Toward its construction nearly $8,000,000 IN CASH HAS BEEN FURNISHED BY SUBSCRIPTION TO ITS STOCK AT PAR.
This road will possess equal advantages for local and through business with any of the great trunk lines from New-York, some of which are paying good dividends on three times the cost of the Midland.
The mortgage is only $20,000 to the mile.
As an evidence of their appreciation by the public, these Bonds are being absorbed about as rapidly as the Company are authorized to issue them.
Marketable securities taken in exchange at market rates.

CAYUGA LAKE RAILROAD,
State of New-York,
7 PER CENT.
FIRST MORTGAGE
GOLD BONDS.

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN, AND ISSUED FOR $20,000 PER MILE.
This road forms the shortest and most direct route from the great anthracite and semi-bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania into the central part of this State, and will run in connection with the New-York Central Road, which it crosses at Cayuga Bridge. Traversing, as it does, the finest and most populous agricultural district, generally known as the "GARDEN OF THE STATE," its local traffic will be large, but its greatest source of revenue will be from its coal business. The road is being rapidly built, and will be in active operation during this year. From our knowledge of this enterprise, and after the most thorough investigation, we most confidently recommend the Bonds as a safe investment. We offer, for the present, the Bonds at 90 and accrued interest in currency.

AT 90 AND INTEREST.
We offer a limited amount of these bonds, which at present price we consider a very desirable investment, as THE ROAD IS IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION, AND EARNING NET MORE THAN THE INTEREST ON ALL ITS BONDS. The business of the road is rapidly increasing; over 1,000 miles of new roads are now building, connecting with, and controlled entirely in the interest of, this road, all of which will be completed at an early day.
THESE NEW ROADS, IT IS EXPECTED, WILL ADD AT LEAST FIFTY PER CENT. TO THE NET RECEIPTS OF THIS COMPANY.

FINANCIAL.

A FIRST-CLASS
NEW-YORK SECURITY
AT A LOW PRICE.

The undersigned offer for sale the FIRST MORTGAGE SEVEN PER CENT. GOLD BONDS of the Syracuse and Chenango Valley Railroad, at 95 and accrued interest.
This road runs from the City of Syracuse to Smith's Valley, where it unites with the New-York Midland Railroad, thus connecting that city by a direct line of road with the Metropolis.
Its length is forty-two miles, its COST ABOUT $40,000 PER MILE, and it is MORTGAGED FOR LESS THAN $12,000 PER MILE; the balance of the funds required for its construction having been raised by subscription to the capital stock.
The road approaches completion. It traverses a populous and fertile district of the State, which insures it a paying business, and it is under the control of gentlemen of high character and ability. Its bonds possess all the requisites of an inviting investment. They are amply secured by a mortgage for LESS THAN ONE-THIRD THE VALUE OF THE PROPERTY. They pay SEVEN PER CENT. GOLD INTEREST, and are offered five per cent. below par. The undersigned confidently recommend them to all classes of investors.

RETRIBUTIVE JUSTICE.

Unsuccessful Attempt of Burglars to Rob a Store in Duane-Street—One of the Gang Falls From the Roof and Receives Serious Injuries.

Soon after 7 o'clock yesterday morning THOMAS GRECO and CHARLES IRWIN, porters at No. 23 Thomas-street, upon opening the rear windows of the store which give a view of the area of the premises of JOSEPH ANDRAD, dealer in fancy feathers, at No. 145 Duane-street, discovered a man lying on the pavement of the area covered with blood. They immediately gave an alarm, and the wounded man was taken to the Fifth Precinct Station-house. He was yet entirely sensible, and in reply to the questions of Capt. PETTY, said that he is a native of England, thirty-five years of age, and that his name is CHARLES FROST, but he did not seem disposed to explain how he had received his injuries. These being examined by Surgeon OKTON were found to be very serious, as they consisted of a fracture of the skull and a fracture of the right arm. The ambulance from Park Hospital was at once sent for and upon arriving at the Station-house and learning the nature of the case Dr. ARMILL delivered to Capt. PETTY a letter which he had found under his door at the hospital when he opened it in the morning, of which the following is a literal copy:

"To the Park Hospital. There is a man fell off a roof on Duane-street, near West Broadway, laying in an airy-way back of ANDRADE'S feather-store. Go see to him."

The injured man was conveyed to Park Hospital, and Capt. PETTY, acting on the hint conveyed in the letter, proceeded to make an investigation. His discoveries led to the conclusion that during Saturday night the feather store had been entered by three burglars, from the roof, to which they had gained access through the tenement-house No. 141 Duane-street. After gaining an entrance, by forcing open the scuttle, they had gone to work upon the four large safes in the store, which are used chiefly for the storage of valuable feathers. They succeeded in opening one of these, only to find it entirely empty, and had then expended much vain labor upon the others, as they did not succeed in opening either of them. Then turning their attention to available plunder, they opened several cases, taking feathers, boxes of cigars and some valuable silver plate used in Jewish service, all of which were found in bags upon the roof, where they had been carried by the thieves. They then, as is supposed, returned for additional plunder, and while there became alarmed, and rushed hastily out. FROST must have passed out upon the glass-roof of a narrow extension, and have fallen from there to the area where he was found. The thieves abandoned on the premises a sledge hammer, one large and four small wedges, two jimmies all new, a rope one hundred feet long, a large bed tick, and a willow-basket in which was a plate containing a half-drank and a large cake. On the person of FROST, when he was searched at the Station-house, was found an open-faced gold watch, which had stopped at 3.40 A. M., showing the time he had fallen, an elegant pistol, $7 in bill, and a piece of paper on which was written "FELDMAN, REICHMANN & Co.," and "HAMIL & BOOTH," both firms being wholesale feather dealers. It is believed that the injuries of FROST will prove fatal.

THE DEATH IN THE TOMBS.

Inquest Yesterday—A Police Surgeon and Sergeant Contradict Each Other on Oath—Both are Censured by the Jury.

An inquest was held, yesterday, by Coroner SCHIRMER, in the case of JOHN D. DUGGAN, whose death in the Tombs Prison under aggravating circumstances has been mentioned in the TIMES. GEORGE C. CROLIUS, Sergeant of the Third Precinct, testified that deceased was taken into the Station-house about 2 P. M. on Thursday last by Officer KELLY, who charged him with intoxication. Deceased gave his name as JOHN DUGGAN, and said he had no home. In reply to the question of the Sergeant he said he had been drinking liquor and wanted more. CROLIUS ordered him to be taken down-stairs, and shortly afterwards visited him and found him sitting by the stove. Deceased said he felt sick, and asked for brandy, which CROLIUS declined to furnish him, but offered to get him some coffee, which deceased refused. Dr. SAMUEL H. ORTON was then sent for, and CROLIUS swore that after he had examined the man he expressed the opinion that deceased had been drinking. According to CROLIUS, Dr. ORTON asked what was done with such cases, and being told by CROLIUS that men under the influence of liquor were sent to the Tombs, directed the Sergeant to act in the usual way in this case, and DUGGAN was accordingly sent to Court as a drunken man.

Dr. SAMUEL H. ORTON having said that he is a Police Surgeon, attached to the Third and Fifth Precincts, testified as to his connection with the case; I went down, and saw deceased sitting by the wall; I asked him his name, which he said was DUGGAN; I asked him where he had been the night before, and he said he had stopped at the Station-house, as he had the night before; I asked him where he lived; he answered, at No. 21 Pine-street, but that he sometimes resided in Philadelphia and sometimes in New-York; I said to him that he looked sick, and asked him if he wanted something to eat; he said he had plenty to eat, but was sick; I then felt his pulse and put my hand upon his chest; I found the action of the heart very feeble, pulsation about eighty per minute; I arrived at the conclusion from my examination that the man was suffering from extreme exhaustion, in consequence, probably, of phthisis and from exposure; I then went upstairs and told the Sergeant the man had been leading a vagrant life, was very much debilitated, and should be sent at once to Park Hospital, but as they would not take him there he should be sent to the care of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction; I then left the Station-house; I did not make the remark that the man was under the influence of liquor; I did not know that he would be sent to the Tombs.

The other facts of the case which have been published were then put in evidence, and the jury rendered a verdict that death had been caused by pneumonia and phthisis pulmonalis, and added: "We censure Sergeant CROLIUS, Third Precinct, and Dr. SAMUEL H. ORTON, for not ascertaining the condition of deceased when in the Station-house, and for not sending him to the Hospital, instead of the Tombs."

Arrest of Female Confidence Operators—Conflicting Stories.

EVA ST. VALLE and LIZZIE DAVIS, who are said to be experienced confidence operators, were arrested, Sunday night, by the Central Detectives and locked up at Police Headquarters on numerous charges. Yesterday morning, it is alleged, EVA ST. VALLE attempted to commit suicide in her cell by hanging herself to the bars of her window, but was detected in time to prevent any serious result, and was taken to Bellevue Hospital in an ambulance. On the other hand, it was stated by the officials in charge of the detective office that the woman had been taken with convulsions, and had not endeavored to hang herself.

The prisoners are charged with that common method of theft known as the confidence game, which consists in making purchases which are to be paid for on delivery. In this case it was the custom of the women to meet the porter at the house to which he had been directed, and, taking the goods from him under pretense of showing them to their mother, leave him alone in a room, after which he would abscond with them or the property. They proved invariably to be strangers in the house where they had just hired rooms, and would always pass directly to the street after leaving the porters. They seem to have been very successful, as complaints have been made against them by the following firms for the amount of goods named: BENNETT WILLIAMS, No. 773 Broadway, laces, $71; JOHNSON, BURNS & Co., No. 170 University-place, laces, $187; LIPMAN, HARRIS & ARNDSK, No. 181 Sixth-avenue, shoes, $47; CHAS. T. PECKHAM, No. 587 Broadway, human hair, $61; BRADBURY & BRO., Bowery and Bleecker-street, fur goods, $75; JOHNSON, CORTWRIGHT & Co., No. 249 Canal-street, silks, $125, and A. FIELD, No. 249 Grand-street, silks, $92.

Besides these there were several other reported cases where they had attempted the same fraud for large amounts, but had been baffled by the caution of the porters, who had decided to part with the goods until they had the money for them. The second prisoner is yet detained at Police Head-quarters.

Deadly Affray in the Fourth Ward—A Bar-Keeper Stabbed.

Another of those affrays which are common to the Fourth Ward, occurred last night in the drinking den of RODY KILBRIDE, No. 268 Front-street, during which the bar-keeper, CORNELIUS CASSON, nineteen years of age, who lives at No. 319 Water-street, was fatally stabbed in the abdomen by an unknown man. The facts in the case are few and simple, as it appears that the unknown man entered the den in company with a woman named O'BRIEN, and commenced using very foul language. CASSON remonstrated with him, telling him there was a decent woman in the house, and he must desist. The ruffian paid no attention to this remonstrance, and three other men having meantime come in and joined in the squabble, a general fight ensued in consequence of the attempt of CASSON to eject the blasphemer from the premises. During the fracas the unknown plunged a knife into the abdomen of CASSON, on the right side, causing an orifice from which the bowels protruded, and immediately flying from the place, escaped. The woman who was with him also fled before the arrival of the Police, so that all trace of the identity of the assailant was for the time lost. Capt. ALLAIRE, however, at once began a search for him, and expects to effect his arrest.

The wounded man was removed to Park Hospital, where his injury was pronounced to be of a fatal character, and Coroner KEENAN was requested to take his ante-mortem statement. He can give no description of his assailant, except that he wore a cap; but it is thought that he can be discovered, from the fact that the woman who was in his company is known. The affray caused considerable excitement among the frequenters of the vile shops of the Fourth Ward, and some sensation was caused in the Station-house by the mourning of the widowed mother of the victim over the fate of her son. He is said to have been of a comparatively inoffensive character.

MOORE ARRAIGNED AT LAST.

The Emigrant Swindler and His Victim in Court—Recorder Hackett Insists Upon an Immediate Trial—A Jury Impaneled.

The case of CHARLES MOORE, the emigrant swindler, was called in the Court of General Sessions at 1 o'clock, yesterday, Recorder HACKETT occupying the bench, having relieved Judge BEDFORD, who sat during the proceedings in the case of Mayor HALL in the forenoon.

Assistant District-Attorney FELLOWS said an error had been discovered in the original indictment and a new one had been found. He moved that the previous indictment be superseded and quashed, and that the prisoner be required to plead to the new indictment.

Counsel for the prisoner said that it was intended to interpose a special plea in this case.

Assistant District-Attorney FELLOWS asked if counsel expected that the case should be laid over on account of the absence of Counselor CLINTON. The error in the first indictment, he said, was a mere clerical mistake. Recorder HACKETT said the case should go on.

Junior counsel asked half an hour to prepare a special plea, and Mr. CLINTON, senior counsel, was sent for. At the expiration of nearly an hour, Mr. CLINTON appeared, and expressed surprise that the case was to be tried that day.

Recorder HACKETT said that the witness KOHRNACK had suffered in health from typhoid fever, in the House of Detention; the case had given him (the Recorder) a great deal of trouble, and he was determined that it should be brought to trial, or he would be compelled to resign his office as Recorder.

Mr. CLINTON hoped that the case would not be tried until to-day. Recorder HACKETT ordered that it should proceed at once. Fifteen minutes were then asked for by counsel, and allowed, after which KOHRNACK was placed upon the stand, looking pale and careworn, the effects of illness. The prisoner pleaded "not guilty," after which a motion was allowed that a jury be selected to try the case, and that a peremptory trial should be had to-day.

Fatal Railroad Accident—A Woman Killed.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a woman, as yet unidentified, was struck by a dummy-engine, pulling a train of cars on the Hudson River Railroad, at Desbrosses and Hudson streets, and was instantly killed, her head being almost literally torn to pieces, and her brains scattered upon the street pavement. The engineer of the dummy was at once arrested, and, before being arraigned before Capt. PETTY, at the Fifth Precinct Station-house, gave his name as WILLIAM H. DUNHAM, and claimed that the affair was purely accidental.

From the statements made at the station-house by several witnesses, it appeared the woman was attempting to cross the track behind a truck, the rear end of which the dummy had just struck. Its speed had been before checked by a signal from the flagman at Canal-street and it is claimed that at the moment of the accident the engine was moving very slowly. The engineer was, however, detained by Capt. PETTY to await an inquest by Coroner YOUNG, and the body was sent to the Morgue to await identification. It is that of a woman about thirty years of age, small stature, poorly dressed, but most of her outer clothing was torn to shreds and was not gathered up. She was carrying a cigar-box, had with her a small bunch of grapes and the business card of PETER VAN DYCK, No. 97 Eighth-avenue. The body was viewed at the station-house by many persons, but it was in such condition that it could be recognized only by the most intimate friends of the deceased.

The Newark Infanticide.

Coroner MUNN, of Newark, yesterday held an inquest on the body of the child found at the Passaic Hotel, on Sunday. The mother of the child, Julia Murray, was confined to her bed, and the Coroner took her statement in writing. She claims that the child was not born alive, that it never breathed, and denies having cut its throat. The razor found in her trunk, she states, was used solely for trimming corns. The jury found a verdict that death had been caused by the razor in the hands of the girl JULIA MURRAY. The girl was too ill to be removed, and still remains at the hotel under the surveillance of the Police. She is twenty-three years old, and has heretofore borne a good reputation. Her parents live in Warren County, and she came to Newark less than a year ago. She states that the father of the child is an employe on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Lyons Suicide.

It is claimed that JOHN HENRY LYONS, whose death by suicide was reported in the TIMES some four weeks ago, left the home of his father in consequence of a pecuniary indiscretion. Having visited relatives for two weeks he sought an interview with his father, by which he was unsuccessful. He then went to board in Sixth-avenue, near Thirty-fourth-street, where he took Paris-green, and died at Bellevue Hospital as stated.

Minor Items.

PATRICK MCCLAIN died yesterday at Bellevue Hospital from injuries received several days ago on board the steamer Minnesota, then at Pier No. 46 North River, by a bucket in which coal was being hoisted from the lower hold slipping from the hook and falling on his head. Coroner KEENAN gave a permit for the removal of the body to No. 579 Greenwich-street, where an inquest will be held.

The further examination of JOHN TALBOT, one of the Greenwich-street smuggling gang, was had before Commissioner SHIELDS yesterday. SAMUEL BARCLAY, a Customs inspector, testified substantially to the same facts as on the first examination; that he had seen TALBOT make several trips to the Morro Castle, bringing off cigars, and on the last trip had arrested him with three boxes of cigars on him. Commissioner SHIELDS held TALBOT to await the action of the Grand Jury.

JULIUS ADLER, a German, aged thirty years, who lived at No. 619 Fifth-street, was almost instantly killed, yesterday morning, by his head coming in contact with an upper floor of No. 79 Walker-street, while he was ascending in an elevator.

JOHN REARDON was committed, yesterday, at the Tombs Police Court, for breaking into the premises of MORRIS MORAN, of No. 116 South-street, and stealing harness worth $100, which was found in his possession.

At 7½ o'clock yesterday morning, three men who were at work on the steamer Idaho, now at Pier No. 46 North River, fell through the hatchway. JAMES DORSON, of No. 23 Charlton-street, died in a few minutes of his injuries; MICHAEL CONNOLLY, of No. 168 Charlton-street, was dangerously hurt about the body, and taken to Bellevue Hospital, while the third man, HENRY CORNELIUS, of No. 73 Vandam-street, escaped with less serious injuries.

An affray occurred, yesterday morning, at Eleventh-street and Third-avenue, between JOHN R. WARREN and JOSEPH CONWAY, waiters at No. 170 Avenue C, during which the latter stabbed WARREN three times in the face, inflicting severe wounds. The assailant is a man of small stature, poorly dressed, but most of her outer clothing was torn to shreds and was not gathered up. She was carrying a cigar-box, had with her a small bunch of grape and the business card of PETER VAN DYCK, No. 97 Eighth-avenue. The body was viewed at the station-house by many persons, but it was in such condition that it could be recognized only by the most intimate friends of the deceased.

A gang of pick-pockets yesterday morning attempted to rob several passengers on car No. 58 of the Third-avenue line, between Houston-street and the Atlantic Garden, but succeeded only in getting one silver watch.

Detective TULLY, of the Central Police, yesterday arrested one PATRICK REGAN on a charge of breaking the show-window of CHARLES CALKROFT, No. 63 Spring-street, and stealing some articles of small value. In the afternoon Detective TULLY started with his prisoner for the Tombs Police Court, but in Houston-street, near Crosby, some friends of the prisoner made an attempt to rescue the party, beating Mr. CALKROFT and the witnesses, so that they fled in affright, and TULLY was forced to return to head-quarters with his prisoner. It is alleged that Officers BEAM and BRADY, of the Fourteenth Precinct, witnessed the assault without offering any assistance to Detective TULLY.

JAMES MACKENNE, yesterday, fell into the hold of the steamer Champion, now at Pier No. 29 North River, and was dangerously injured. He was taken to the Park Hospital, where he died soon after his admission. He was the engineer of the vessel.

Jefferson Market, yesterday, NICHOLAS VAN PELT was committed in default of $1,500 bail, on a charge of firing the contents of a loaded revolver at JOHN WALLACE while he was on the roof of a shed at No. 207 Mercer-street yesterday morning.

Last week two very respectably-dressed women entered Dr. WOODS' rooms, at the Cooper Institute, and while the doctor was engaged with a patient broke open a drawer and stole two gold watches valued at $225 and $25 in money. The robbery was not detected till after the departure of the thieves.

TRYING THE GRAND JURY.

The Stokes Case—Was the Indictment Found by a Competent Jury?—The Testimony Elicited Yesterday.

The trial of the preliminary question as to the legality of the constitution of the Grand Jury of the Court of General Sessions which indicted EDWARD S. STOKES for the murder of JAMES FISK, Jr., was resumed yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer before Judge CARDOZO.

THE TESTIMONY.

Chief-Justice BARBOUR, of the Superior Court, was re-examined, and said he was not sure if three members of the quorum examined the list of petit jurors at the sessions on the 6th or 8th of September last. The list was before them, but he could not state how many were exempt from duty, because they were office-holders under the Federal or City Governments; did not know how many of the Grand Jurors for 1871 were on the petit jury list; did not look through the list when signing it on the 9th of September; I suggested that the name of JESSE A. MARSHALL be stricken off; Mr. MARSHALL'S name is on the list, and several other names are stricken off.

CHARLES A. LOEW testified briefly that he had not superintended the drawing of Grand Jurors during the year, but left that to his deputy.

Mr. GRAHAM here contradicted a statement of an alleged conversation between himself and a Mr. SISSON in relation to this case, published in a local journal.

MAUNSELL B. FIELD testified: I never attended as a petit juror, and was never summoned as one; I did not know my name was on the Grand Jury list until July, 1868, when I was directed to attend. Mr. RUSSELL, of our firm, was sent for by a lawyer named RUBY, connected with the Erie Office in connection with the Fisk-Stokes controversy, I think, but he will tell you all about it himself.

Q.—You were on the Coroner's inquest in this case, and took an active part in it?

Judge CARDOZO—I don't see what this trial has to do with the Coroner's jury.

Mr. MCKEON—We propose to show that this man acted in fact as public prosecutor while on the Coroner's Jury, and the moment they retired produced a written verdict, containing the words "felonious" and "premeditated."

The Court excluded the question and the witness resumed: I don't know anything about an indictment in the Stokes-Mansfield case; I don't know that my partner, Mr. RUSSELL, was very active about the Grand Jury.

JUDGE BEDFORD ON THE STAND.

Mr. FIELD'S testimony was here suspended, and Judge BEDFORD was sworn. He stated: I was one of the Committee appointed to examine the list of jurors on the 4th of last September; Mayor HALL was my associate; I saw the Mayor on the 8th and 6th in reference to the matter; I suggested the names of ROBERT L. CUTTING, Jr., CHAS. DELMONICO, E. B. KNAPP Mr. TIFFANY, the jeweler; I saw these names afterward on the Grand Jury list: the names of 662 jurors were presented on the 8th of September, but I cannot say in whose handwriting they are; I don't know of my own knowledge that any of these gentlemen were disqualified; I don't know how many of 662 were office-holders; I was not shown a list of persons desirous of getting on the Grand Jury.

Q.—Did you know that the list of petit jurors presented was the list for the time being? A.—I knew the statute, and I presumed its requirements were carried out; I am familiar with the law of 1683, to which you referred, and I took it for granted that the papers presented by Mr. TAYLOR were correct and according to the statute; I have no positive knowledge that the list he gave was a list of petit jurors for the time being; on the 4th of September, in company with Mr. TAYLOR, I spent two hours in going over the list; I had that confidence in the other members of the Board that I thought it proper to indorse any name they suggested; there was no formal vote upon them, but an acquiescence and a discussion about different jurors; I regarded it my duty to look over this list, and reject disreputable names upon it; I have no personal knowledge of any such disreputable person upon the calendar; I may or may not have seen this list now presented to me on the 8th of September; the resolution of the Recorder, on the 5th of September, was to the effect that the Committee, Mayor Hall and myself were to revise the list, and report at the ensuing meeting; the steamer America arrived here, and the writer scrutinized the visitors, while admiring their manly, independent bearing, he shared in the amusement caused by the peculiar style of clothing worn by some members of the Embassy. The Japanese, apparently unsuspicious of the mirth they created, promenaded around with supreme indifference, yet they quickly noted the unfashionable cut of their garb, and made alterations and amendments without any suggestions. No one had to prompt them on this score. When the Japanese occupied quarters in the hotels, they set about learning the minutiæ of these caravansaries, questioning everybody with whom they came in contact as to rules, regulations and general details. Those who were unfamiliar with the English language managed to make their object known by the cosmopolitan sign language of expression and gesticulation which often answers as well as words. Self-reliance seemed to be a feature of their character, a self-reliance which never rejected advice nor countenanced discourtesy. Without being imprudent or obtrusive, they were cool and self-possessed and accepted statements cum grano salis. The majority of the Embassy have a theoretical knowledge of the English language, comprehended what was said to them, although often unable to return an answer. At first, the report was circulated that only two members of the Embassy could speak or understand English, and the report was believed. Now it appears that a majority of the gentlemen speak English, write English and comprehend English, and before the Embassy leaves the city the number may be increased to ten or twelve. The Japanese can instruct the Americans in etiquette. They bow gracefully, courteously, and, without any apparent effort, treat all men with the respect due from one gentleman to another. Their behavoir in private parlors, at public receptions, and upon the streets, has been commendatory to an eminent degree; and when the time for our visitors to depart is reached, there cannot fail to be a general feeling of regret among the citizens.

Card from a Missionary Accompanying it to the Churches of San Francisco.

The following card is published in the San Francisco papers of Jan. 20:

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19, 1872.

To the Patrons of all the Churches and all the Members of the "Ministerial Unions" of San Francisco:

DEAR BRETHREN: Having recently arrived in your city in company with the Japanese Embassy, I desire to lay before you certain facts, and ask your co-operation for the accomplishment of certain purposes, in which, I trust, we all have and feel a common interest. This Embassy is commissioned by the Government of Japan to inquire into and learn all it can about all the institutions and religions, as well as the arts and sciences of the various Christian nations to which it is accredited, and officers are appointed for the various especial purposes and objects of these inquiries. Among these there are officers of this Embassy especially charged with the duty of learning all they can of the peculiar doctrines and customs and usages of Christianity. These officers, as well as the Chief Ambassador, on their passage across the Pacific, have frequently expressed their belief that at no distant day all restrictions against Christianity in their country would be removed and entire freedom of conscience in matters of religion would prevail. They are, for this reason, now anxious to obtain light and information upon this subject wherever they may travel, and it seems to me to be a good opportunity for leading men in all the churches in the various cities through which they may pass to lay before them their views, and to petition the Embassador (who is also the Prime Minister of Japan) for the speedy repeal of the old edict against Christianity. It is believed that the Japanese Government have no desire to prosecute native Christians now, but only do so to make a show of opposition merely to keep parties quiet who are not yet fully enlightened in regard to their relations with the outside world, and so to keep the peace.

It was, no doubt, entirely for this reason that about two years since, some 8,000 native Christians, living in a village near Nagasaki, Japan, were exiled from their homes, and distributed in various provinces of the Empire, and kept in close confinement, at hard labor. It is also frequently reported that these exiles are subjected to very hard and cruel torture in order to force them to return to their old faith.

Would it not be well, then, if you, brethren of the Ministerial Union here in San Francisco, the first Christian city that has had the privilege of receiving this interesting Embassy on its way to the various nations and peoples of Christendom, should come to the rescue in behalf of the churches you represent, and make your formal petition to this Embassador, the Prime Minister of the Empire, asking for the liberation of those brethren in bonds, and for the repeal of the old edict against Christianity. You may in this connection, also inform them that our Government gives perfect freedom of conscience to all sects and classes, and that in thus asking the Japanese Government to repeal its edict and to release those who are in bond for conscience-sake, we do not desire to interfere in any way with the political institutions of their country, but only to invite them to adopt the principles of freedom that they now find in successful operation among ourselves. If, at your meeting on Monday next, you can all agree upon concerted action, I hope your petition may be received with favor, and also that the example that you may set may be followed by the representatives of the churches in other cities, as the Embassy moves on eastward.

May God direct in all that appertains to this very important matter, is the prayer of Yours in Christ, J. GOBLE.

Gossip About the Young Ladies Accompanying Them—Impressions Made by the Men.

From the San Francisco Bulletin, Jan. 22.

There is a bit of romance connected with the departure of the Japanese from time-honored traditions in allowing five young ladies, daughters of high officers, to leave home and reside in a foreign land. It seems that Minister DE LONG, with characteristic zeal, assisted IWAKURA in sending his sons to college, and when the latter returned his acknowledgement for the Minister's kind attentions, he visited Mr. DE LONG'S house in person. Struck with the elegant and orderly arrangement of the interior of the dwelling, and the numerous evidences of comfort, IWAKURA became inquisitive and began a series of interrogations.

"How is it that your house is so neat and pleasant?" says IWAKURA.

"Because," replied the Minister, "a lady manages the household."

This reply set IWAKURA to thinking, and, as he is a bit of a philosopher, he quickly propounded questions directly to the point, and received answers equally pertinent. Mr. DE LONG told IWAKURA that the women of America were allowed to visit places of public amusement with their husbands, had almost as much freedom as the men, and, in order that this freedom might be appreciated, these women were educated. In America, woman commanded more respect than in Japan, and was not the slave of her husband. It was good that woman should be educated and respected. IWAKURA remembered Mr. DE LONG'S words, and the demolition of one tradition about females is due in a great measure to their joint efforts. The young ladies, Misses YOSHIMAS, ONYEDA, YAMAGWA, TSUDA and NAGAI, who came with the Embassy, are not Princesses, though daughters of high, wealthy officials, and members of the Japanese "upper ten." The two oldest, who are about sixteen years of age, have an excellent Japanese education, and the other three have advanced as far in native studies as their youth would admit. The social position of the female sex among the Japanese appears to be more favorable than in most pagan countries. The daughters in a Japanese family receive an equal amount of parental care and attention with that bestowed on the male offspring. Nothing beyond the commonly prevalent pagan sentiment of the inferiority of the female operates to the disadvantage of women in the family circle. Among the leading classes the girls are taught dancing and vocal and instrumental music. The universal custom of dyeing the lips a deep red color, and plentifully besmearing the face with a white powder of flour-dust, is one of the features of the Japanese lady's toilet which the American lady can so far surpass her that a comparison would be odious. Our Japanese lady visitors are good average representatives of ladies of the first class, and, of course, are unmarried and disengaged. Their ladylike demeanor has won them a host of friends among the American women, who declare they are perfectly charming on account of the vivacious, yet self-reliant and dignified in manners. In the ordinary mutual intercourse of friends and families, the women have their share, according to HAWKINS' report in 1854, and rounds of visiting and tea-parties are kept up as briskly in Japan as in the United States. Yet the Japanese female is considered by her people far inferior to the man, and is, after all that may be said, under unwholesome restraint.

The Japanese young ladies were pleased with the performance at the California on Thursday evening, and succeeded in hitting some points of the play. When asked if the performance pleased her, one of the bevy pointed to her eyes and ears, and said it is a treat to them the use of sight and hearing. It will be remembered that after the theatrical performance the young ladies visited a social party at Mayor SELBY'S residence, and were highly entertained. When they reached the Grand Hotel, after the close of the evening's festivities, they unbridled their tongues and talked for hours. In explaining her ideas of what she had seen, one of them said, (in her own silvery tongue,) "I did not know there was such a world as this!"

THE MEMBERS OF THE EMBASSY.

The Japanese have worn well. Those of our citizens who have unwittingly confounded them with the Chinese have not only been corrected and thoroughly enlightened on the subject, but they have received impressions which will be lasting and probably beneficial to all parties concerned. When the steamer America arrived here, and the writer scrutinized the visitors, while admiring their manly, independent bearing, he shared in the amusement caused by the peculiar style of clothing worn by some members of the Embassy. The Japanese, apparently unsuspicious of the mirth they created, promenaded around with supreme indifference, yet they quickly noted the unfashionable cut of their garb, and made alterations and amendments without any suggestions. No one had to prompt them on this score. When the Japanese occupied quarters in the hotels, they set about learning the minutiæ of these caravansaries, questioning everybody with whom they came in contact as to rules, regulations and general details. Those who were unfamiliar with the English language managed to make their object known by the cosmopolitan sign language of expression and gesticulation which often answers as well as words. Self-reliance seemed to be a feature of their character, a self-reliance which never rejected advice nor countenanced discourtesy. Without being imprudent or obtrusive, they were cool and self-possessed and accepted statements cum grano salis. The majority of the Embassy have a theoretical knowledge of the English language, comprehended what was said to them, although often unable to return an answer. At first, the report was circulated that only two members of the Embassy could speak or understand English, and the report was believed. Now it appears that a majority of the gentlemen speak English, write English and comprehend English, and before the Embassy leaves the city the number may be increased to ten or twelve. The Japanese can instruct the Americans in etiquette. They bow gracefully, courteously, and, without any apparent effort, treat all men with the respect due from one gentleman to another. Their behavoir in private parlors, at public receptions, and upon the streets, has been commendatory to an eminent degree; and when the time for our visitors to depart is reached, there cannot fail to be a general feeling of regret among the citizens.

The Linen Smuggling Case.

W. J. POLLOCK, whose operations in the way of importing linen goods, jute, &c., have already been alluded to in the TIMES, was brought before Commissioner SHIELDS yesterday on a charge of fraudulent importation. The affidavit on which he was arrested in this case, is made by JAMES W. CHALKER, Special Treasury Agent, which has also been given in this paper. The affidavit makes two charges; one of undervaluation, the other of smuggling goods, both offences committed on the same occasion. POLLOCK was held in $5,000 bail on each charge. MCGRATH and others supposed to have been engaged in this mercantile swindle have, so far, eluded the vigilance of the United States officials. This case of smuggling, reported exclusively in the TIMES last Monday, has created considerable interest among dry goods dealers, especially linen importers, and it is hoped by them that other swindles of this character will be unmasked by this exposure, and the perpetrators punished. So adroitly are these undervaluation frauds managed that it is believed that large quantities of silk are smuggled into this port as linen goods.

A man was brought into Bellevue Hospital last evening, half conscious and apparently suffering from internal injury. In reply to inquiries, he gasped out that his name was GEORGE BUDD, and that he resided at No. 371 East Twentieth-street. This number proves to be a church. BUDD has been unconscious since his admission.

At a meeting of the Croton Water Police, at noon yesterday, a Committee was appointed to wait on Mr. STEBBINS and Commissioner VAN NORT, in regard to the non-payment of their salaries. During the afternoon, the Committee waited on these gentlemen, who said that on Saturday the Commissioners of Public Works had decided that every man who could prove his claim should be paid.

The announcement made a few days since of "An Oriental Seeking Justice" at the hands of the Grand Jury, has created quite a stir among the Jewish community. Rabbi ARONS, of Aronson, it was understood, alleged that the wine supplied to the synagogues was not properly prepared, according to the Hebrew rites. The wine dealers say that their wine is so prepared, and that it bears the seal and signature of Rev. A. J. ASH, of the congregation Grand Beth Hamedrash, of this City, and is further certified by Rev. Dr. ISAACS as being a wine which the most conscientious Israelite may use with entire spiritual impunity.
